3rd Division Routs Reds' Hard Drive

Artillery Rains 3,300 Shells on U. S. Men in Two-Hour Attack on Central Front

Seoul, April 3 (AP)—Chinese Communist troops hit allied lines in central Korea today for the second time in 24 hours, hurling a 175-man attack against a strategic outpost hill northeast of Chorwon.

Troops of the U. S. Third Division, 15th Regiment, routed the Reds in a bloody two-hour battle marked by hand-to-hand fighting, the Eighth Army said.

The Chinese fired more than 3,300 artillery shells before and during the attack.

An Eighth Army briefing officer said that at no time did the Americans lose control of the hill, fifteen Chinese bodies were left on the hill and the army estimated at least 30 others were killed or wounded.

Full Battalion in Action

In the same general area a full Chinese battalion attacked positions of the South Korean Capitol Division before dawn Thursday, but the ROKs threw back the assault in a 40-minute battle.

The central front attacks followed the pattern of last week's vicious Red assaults on Old Baldy, Vegas, Reno and Carson outposts on the western front—but were on a smaller scale. Observers said the Reds apparently intend to continue military pressure against allied lines despite recent truce proposals from Communist China and North Korea.

Elsewhere on the battle front, allied troops threw back three small probing attacks in eastern Korea and killed or wounded 29 Reds in a patrol clash in the west.

Planes Grounded

Low clouds grounded allied warplanes Friday, the Fifth Air Force said. Thursday night B-26 bombers destroyed 26 Communist trucks and shot up trains in strikes against North Korean communication lines, the air force said.

Eighth Army said 12,553 Communist troops were killed, wounded or captured by the allies during March — the highest monthly total since the 14,540 last November. The Eighth Army briefing officer said 2,993 of the total were inflicted by the marines and 2,817 by the army's Seventh Division. Most of the Reds were killed or wounded in the bloody fighting on Old Baldy Hill and Vegas outpost in Western Korea.

Highest POW Toll

The March estimates included 6,790 Reds killed, 5,710 wounded and 53 captured—the highest prisoner of war toll in many

Russians' Peace Overtures Are Received at Face Value; UN Rushes Plans for POW Return

8th Army Ready to Move Men, but Daniel Not Optimistic About Any Quick Agreement

Munsan, Korea, April 3 (AP)—The United Nations command today rushed plans for the possible quick return of sick and wounded allied prisoners from North Korea.

But the American admiral who will speak for the UN in prisoner exchange talks opening Monday at Panmunjom refused to predict the outcome.

"I've been here since June and I would never make the mistake of being optimistic," said Rear Adm. John C. Daniel, a UN truce negotiator chosen to head the allied liaison team.

"I hope the Communists mean business this time," he added.

Daniel, who flew here from Tokyo early this week, has been in almost constant telephone contact with Gen. Mark Clark's Tokyo headquarters.

8th Army Ready

If the negotiators at Panmunjom agree to exchange sick and wounded prisoners the Eighth Army will handle the transportation, medical care and supply.

Maj. Gen. Paul D. Adams, Eighth Army chief of staff, was at this advance camp Friday checking on preparations.

U. S. Marine Engineers were working around the clock on a fence surrounding a large clearing nearby which reportedly will be used either as a receiving point or as a supply depot. One officer said he had orders to finish the fence by nightfall.

Army convoys lined the highway from Seoul to Munsan hauling supplies. One 13-truck convoy carried tent frames and a second convoy of 15 trucks hauled tent canvas, lumber, generators, housekeeping tools and equipment and other supplies.

Korean laborers were also brought in on trucks.

Will Use 'Copters

Eighth Army officers planned to mobilize all helicopters that could be spared from the fighting front to airlift sick and wounded prisoners from the Panmunjom exchange point to field hospitals behind the lines.

Present plans call for transporting the less severe cases to the rear by bus and truck and possibly by railroad.

More and more Allied officers and troops arrived at this apple orchard as preparations were stepped up. So far, though Daniel was the only member of the five man delegation to put in an appearance.

Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, Jr., the senior delegate, remained in Tokyo, where he talked with General Clark. Harrison is also Clark's deputy commander in the Far East command.

The hour for Monday's meeting at Panmunjom has not been announced. Most sessions in the past have started at 11 a. m.

Adm. Daniel has not yet completed his roster of liaison officers who will accompany him to Panmunjom.

Cautious Hope

There was cautious hope among observers here that the liaison officers will reach agreement on exchanging sick and wounded prisoners and perhaps pave the way for a truce in Korea.

The Reds proposed Thursday that a date be set Monday for resumption of truce negotiations

Communists' Response Indicates Meeting Is Likely Between Ike and Malenkov

Washington, April 3 (AP)—Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov had President Eisenhower's own words today to assure him that all Russian peace approaches are being received by the U. S. government at full face value.

Eisenhower made this statement at a news conference yesterday, saying the government should take every offer made by Russia at face value until it is proved not worthy of being considered.

Behind his words is a widespread belief of top officials here that the Cammunists are moving toward agreement on a truce in Korea and perhaps other tension easing settlements. This has still to be proved, however, and what the Reds actually do in the prospective renewal of peace talks in Korea is looked to here as a definitive test of their intentions.

Meeting Likely

Meanwhile, the whole public exchange of peace moves and responses from the Communist and western sides appears to be enhancing the chances of an eventual meeting between Eisenhower and Malenkov.

Diplomatic authorities expect, however, that if and when this occurs it will most likely include British Prime Minister Churchill and French Premier Mayer as well.

The U. S., British, French and other friendly governments have been consulting intensively on the Kremlin's evident peace offensive.

They are reported to have come to an understanding to maintain a flexible, open-minded attitude toward specific propositions put forward by the Reds.

The President's words yesterday were clearly in line with this understanding. Though spoken informally to a news conference, they had the diplomatic effect of officially informing Moscow of this government's readiness to deal with Communist proposals on the assumption they are sincere.

The President was asked for his estimate or analysis of recent peace overtures from the Russians and the Communist Chinese, the latter having accepted the United Nations suggestion for immediate exchange of sick and wounded prisoners of war in Korea and having sought resumption of the truce talks.

Calls It Guessing

Eisenhower said it was very difficult to say that any current speculation should be dignified by the term analysis since some of it is very definite guessing.

But, he said, he thought in this whole business of peace approaches the U. S. should take at face value every offer made until it is proved not worthy of being so taken.

He added that he did not believe, of course, that this government should ignore the history of past dealings with all its exasperating experiences and frustrations in the effort to promote peaceful arrangements.

Looks for Deeds

If the Communists go through with the exchange of sick and wounded prisoners, and if that in turn promotes armistice negotiations as they suggested, the President remarked, that certainly would be a clear indication that deeds rather than words were now to come into fashion. It would be a development which the U. S. government would welcome heartily, he said, without trying to speculate about what is behind it.

Thousands Go To Rome for Good Friday

Vatican City, April 3 (AP)—Grief keynoted Good Friday services in St. Peter's Basilica today as Roman Catholics commemorated the most solemn event of Holy Week—Christ's death on the cross.

Thousands of pilgrims and tourists from many lands, speaking a hushed babel of languages, streamed slowly and steadily into the great Basilica, where Federico Cardinal Tedeschini officiated at the mournful Mass of the "Presanctified" Host.

There were small pilgrimages from France, Sweden, Germany, Belgium, England, the United States, Canada, Denmark, Austria and many other countries. There were U. S. troops from NATO's southern command and from Trieste.

Brilliance Removed

Their shiny brass buttons were about the only bright bits in the Basilica, normally a glowing blaze of light and color for religious ceremonies which are among the world's most brilliant spectacles.

There was none of that today. No candle was lighted. The great papal altar—washed with wine and vinegar in yesterday's Holy Thursday ceremony—was bare.

Deep purple hid the Basilica's mosaics. Purple cloth covered the crucifixes.

Cardinal Tedeschini led a procession to the sepulcher," where had been placed — amidst a few flowers—a host, the wafer symbolizing the body of Christ, consecrated at yesterday's Mass.

During the "presanctified" ceremony—a skeletonized form of the Mass in which no host is consecrated—the cardinal consumed the preconsecrated host.

Similar services were held today at many of Rome's nearly 500 other churches, including St. John Lateran, see of the Pope as bishop of Rome.

Half Million Visitors

Vatican sources estimated that more than half a million persons visited St. Peter's yesterday. As many or more were expected today.

Outside, in the big oval court where on Easter Sunday the Pope will speak and give the benediction to the city and the world, giant buses arrived constantly from many European countries.

Because so many tourists and pilgrims are expected on Easter Sunday, provisions were made for an outdoor Mass on the broad ramp in front of the Basilica. The service will be celebrated before the Pope's address and blessing.

Events scheduled included the third and final tenebrae—shadows—services in St. Peter's and other Roman churches, commemorating the passion and death of Christ, and a torchlight Way of the Cross ceremony tonight by youth of Italian Catholic Action on the Palatine Hill.

Security Director Agrees With Ike On Trade Issue

Eisenhower Says McCarthy Didn't Undermine U. S. Policy, but Assumed too Much Authority

Washington, April 3 (AP)—Mutual Security Director Harold E. Stassen said today he thoroughly agrees with President Eisenhower's position on the controversial efforts by Sen. McCarthy to curb free world trade with Communist nations.

Talking to White House newsmen after a cabinet meeting, Stassen said in reply to a question that specifically he agrees with Eisenhower that it would have been better for him to have used the word "infringe" instead of saying the Wisconsin senator had "undermined" government policy.

Stassen told McCarthy's government operations subcommittee on Monday that McCarthy had undermined government efforts to shut off trade with Iron Curtain ports. The subcommittee has been getting pledges from Greek ship owners not to trade with Red China and North Korea.

Eisenhower said at his news conference yesterday he personally did not believe McCarthy had undermined policy, but he emphasized that the right to negotiate agreements in that field rests completely and absolutely with the President.

Happy About Outcome

Stassen said today he is "happy" about what he termed the outcome of the controversy.

The President told his news conference it would take more than an error by a senator to undermine U. S. policy or the State Department. He said Stassen probably had meant in the first place to say "infringe" instead of "undermine."

And, Eisenhower added, he would not say that no good could come from McCarthy's dealings with the ship owners even though, as he put it, these efforts may be misguided.

Up to President

Eisenhower emphasized, however, that the power to negotiate foreign agreements rests solely with the President and the State Department.

McCarthy, at his office, told reporters he agreed that he and his Senate Investigations Subcommittee could not negotiate with foreign governments.

"We have not done that, and we do not intend to," he added.

Clearly pleased by the over-all

Three Are Injured In Thursday Collision

Three persons were slightly injured in a two-car collision at Levan and Brewster streets yesterday.

Sgt. Lemuel Howard and Officer Louis Sapp, Jr., who investigated, said a car driven east on Brewster street by Georgia M. Ricco, RD, Kingston, and the sedan of Ethel Meyer, 47, of 27 Spring street, going north on Levan street, were in collision shortly after 2 p. m.

Georgia M. Ricco reported a knee injury, and Rose Ann Ashdown, 23, of 154 Foxhall avenue, riding in the same car, suffered a bruise of the forehead. Ethel Meyer reported bruises of the left side.

Police said the Ricco car was turned completely around in the mishap.

New York Greets First Korea Vets With Giant Party

5,000 Anxious Relatives Joined by Officials, Bands as Troops Leave Ship

New York, April 3 (AP)—Laughing and crying women gave a wild welcome today to soldiers on the first troopship to come into New York from Korea.

It was unofficially estimated that 5,000 relatives and girl friends gathered to meet men who debarked after a series of delays—a night at anchor in the harbor, a number of welcome home speeches, and a gangplank that got stuck.

New York and New Jersey troops headed for a city hall reception and a Broadway parade before they could scatter for their homes.

Troops from other states boarded ferries for New Jersey to go to Camp Kilmer for furlough clearance.

Many, though, held brief dockside reunions with wives they hadn't seen in two years. Some were seeing their infant children for the first time.

Wave Signs

The welcomers waved signs they had written on white placards provided by the army. They bore inscriptions in lipstick and mascara such as "welcome home, Louie," "welcome home, Sugarpuss" and "it's about time."

Previous Convictions Are Considered in Stiff Sentences for Two Youths

Two Kingston boys, aged 16 and 17, were arrested by state police Thursday afternoon after a chase during which troopers reported speeds between 85 and 90 miles per hour were reached.

The driver, John Frederick Decker, 16, of 47 Harding avenue, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Harold Macholdt of the town of Ulster on four charges: speeding, using improper license places, no proof of insurance as required of drivers under 21, and unlicensed operation. His passenger, Stephen Miller, 17, of 130 O'Neil street, was charged before the same justice with furnishing the improper plate allegedly used by Decker.

Pays $75, Gets 5 Days

Decker pleaded innocent to the unlicensed operation charge, which alleged that he was using a junior operator's license for a purpose for which it was not valid. Hearing was adjourned until 4 p. m. Monday, April 6. On the other three charges, Decker pleaded guilty and was fined $25 on each—a total of $75—and was given an additional five day jail sentence, Justice Macholdt stated he was taking into consideration two previous traffic convictions against Decker this year.

Miller pleaded guilty to the charge of providing the improper license plate and paid a fine of $25. He also had two previous convictions, having been arrested by state police in Kingston following a chase in February and was fined $25 each on charges of speeding and unlicensed operation at that time by Judge Macholdt.

Polio Specialists Would Ban Drug Until Study Ends in '55

Chicago, April 3 (AP)—The general public may not get any of the new, highly promising but still experimental polio vaccine before 1955 at least.

A group of the nation's top medical leaders, including the heads of the American Medical Association and the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, have urged that limited but expanding studies be carried out the remainder of 1953 and in 1954 to test the safety and effectiveness of the preparation.

This was disclosed today by Dr. Thomas M. Rivers, New York, director of the hospital for the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, in a letter to the editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

At the same time, the AMA Journal said in an editorial that while vaccine of the type tested has shown "most promising" results "research of this type cannot be hastened."

Dr. Jonas E. Salk, 38, virus researcher at the University of Pittsburgh, announced development of the new Mineral oil-type vaccine on March 26.

In preliminary tests, he said, the vaccine gave 90 persons protection against all three types of viruses that cause human polio and none of the patients suffered any ill effects.

Van Fleet Is Offered Post Of Influence in Defense

Washington, April 3 (AP)—Deep in controversy over his claims at ammunition shortages in Korea, Gen. James A. Van Fleet had offer of a job that could give him potent influence on national defense.

It was an invitation to serve as staff military adviser to the Senate Appropriations Committee, which will have a big say about how many billions of dollars Congress will vote for defense in the months ahead.

Chairman Bridges (R.-N. H.) of the pursestring committee said he and Sen. Ferguson (R.-Mich.), chairman of the Defense Funds Subcommittee, yesterday invited Van Fleet to take the military adviser post.

"The general told us that he would take it under consideration," Ferguson said, adding it may be several days before Van Fleet decides.

Van Fleet's name came up at President Eisenhower's news conference yesterday.

A reporter asked about Van Fleet's testimony in Senate committees that in June 1951 he had planned an amphibious landing behind lines of retreating Red armies, but was stopped by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, then Far East theatre commander.

Eisenhower replied he had never heard of that landing plan.

Conerty Arrested After Night Crash

Held by Police Following Collision With Car Parked at Curb

Edwin H. Conerty, 27, of 276 Main street, was arrested last night by Officers William Norton and John Crespino on a charge of driving while intoxicated after the car he was driving allegedly struck another near 116 Pearl street.

Conerty pleaded innocent when he appeared today before City Judge Raymond J. Mino and was released on bail of $200 pending hearing April 10. Attorney Charles H. Gaffney appeared for him.

A police report at 11:45 p. m., said Conerty was driving east on Pearl street when the sedan in which he was riding struck the car of William J. Thomas, parked at the curb near 116 Pearl street. The left front fender, door and bumper of the Thomas car were reported damaged.

Security Director Agrees With Ike On Trade Issue

Eisenhower Says McCarthy Didn't Undermine U. S. Policy, but Assumed too Much Authority

Washington, April 3 (AP)—Mutual Security Director Harold E. Stassen said today he thoroughly agrees with President Eisenhower's position on the controversial efforts by Sen. McCarthy to curb free world trade with Communist nations.

Talking to White House newsmen after a cabinet meeting, Stassen said in reply to a question that specifically he agrees with Eisenhower that it would have been better for him to have used the word "infringe" instead of saying the Wisconsin senator had "undermined" government policy.

Stassen told McCarthy's government operations subcommittee on Monday that McCarthy had undermined government efforts to shut off trade with Iron Curtain ports. The subcommittee has been getting pledges from Greek ship owners not to trade with Red China and North Korea.

Eisenhower said at his news conference yesterday he personally did not believe McCarthy had undermined policy, but he emphasized that the right to negotiate agreements in that field rests completely and absolutely with the President.

Happy About Outcome

Stassen said today he is "happy" about what he termed the outcome of the controversy.

The President told his news conference it would take more than an error by a senator to undermine U. S. policy or the State Department. He said Stassen probably had meant in the first place to say "infringe" instead of "undermine."

And, Eisenhower added, he would not say that no good could come from McCarthy's dealings with the ship owners even though, as he put it, these efforts may be misguided.

Up to President

Eisenhower emphasized, however, that the power to negotiate foreign agreements rests solely with the President and the State Department.

McCarthy, at his office, told reporters he agreed that he and his Senate Investigations Subcommittee could not negotiate with foreign governments.

"We have not done that, and we do not intend to," he added.

Three Are Injured In Thursday Collision

Three persons were slightly injured in a two-car collision at Levan and Brewster streets yesterday.

Sgt. Lemuel Howard and Officer Louis Sapp, Jr., who investigated, said a car driven east on Brewster street by Georgia M. Ricco, RD, Kingston, and the sedan of Ethel Meyer, 47, of 27 Spring street, going north on Levan street, were in collision shortly after 2 p. m.

Georgia M. Ricco reported a knee injury, and Rose Ann Ashdown, 23, of 154 Foxhall avenue, riding in the same car, suffered a bruise of the forehead. Ethel Meyer reported bruises of the left side.

Police said the Ricco car was turned completely around in the mishap.

New York Greets First Korea Vets With Giant Party

5,000 Anxious Relatives Joined by Officials, Bands as Troops Leave Ship

New York, April 3 (AP)—Laughing and crying women gave a wild welcome today to soldiers on the first troopship to come into New York from Korea.

It was unofficially estimated that 5,000 relatives and girl friends gathered to meet men who debarked after a series of delays—a night at anchor in the harbor, a number of welcome home speeches, and a gangplank that got stuck.

New York and New Jersey troops headed for a city hall reception and a Broadway parade before they could scatter for their homes.

Troops from other states boarded ferries for New Jersey to go to Camp Kilmer for furlough clearance.

Many, though, held brief dockside reunions with wives they hadn't seen in two years. Some were seeing their infant children for the first time.

Wave Signs

The welcomers waved signs they had written on white placards provided by the army. They bore inscriptions in lipstick and mascara such as "welcome home, Louie," "welcome home, Sugarpuss" and "it's about time."

Previous Convictions Are Considered in Stiff Sentences for Two Youths

Two Kingston boys, aged 16 and 17, were arrested by state police Thursday afternoon after a chase during which troopers reported speeds between 85 and 90 miles per hour were reached.

The driver, John Frederick Decker, 16, of 47 Harding avenue, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Harold Macholdt of the town of Ulster on four charges: speeding, using improper license places, no proof of insurance as required of drivers under 21, and unlicensed operation. His passenger, Stephen Miller, 17, of 130 O'Neil street, was charged before the same justice with furnishing the improper plate allegedly used by Decker.

Pays $75, Gets 5 Days

Decker pleaded innocent to the unlicensed operation charge, which alleged that he was using a junior operator's license for a purpose for which it was not valid. Hearing was adjourned until 4 p. m. Monday, April 6. On the other three charges, Decker pleaded guilty and was fined $25 on each—a total of $75—and was given an additional five day jail sentence, Justice Macholdt stated he was taking into consideration two previous traffic convictions against Decker this year.

Miller pleaded guilty to the charge of providing the improper license plate and paid a fine of $25. He also had two previous convictions, having been arrested by state police in Kingston following a chase in February and was fined $25 each on charges of speeding and unlicensed operation at that time by Judge Macholdt.

Polio Specialists Would Ban Drug Until Study Ends in '55

Chicago, April 3 (AP)—The general public may not get any of the new, highly promising but still experimental polio vaccine before 1955 at least.

A group of the nation's top medical leaders, including the heads of the American Medical Association and the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, have urged that limited but expanding studies be carried out the remainder of 1953 and in 1954 to test the safety and effectiveness of the preparation.

This was disclosed today by Dr. Thomas M. Rivers, New York, director of the hospital for the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, in a letter to the editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

At the same time, the AMA Journal said in an editorial that while vaccine of the type tested has shown "most promising" results "research of this type cannot be hastened."

Dr. Jonas E. Salk, 38, virus researcher at the University of Pittsburgh, announced development of the new Mineral oil-type vaccine on March 26.

In preliminary tests, he said, the vaccine gave 90 persons protection against all three types of viruses that cause human polio and none of the patients suffered any ill effects.

Van Fleet Is Offered Post Of Influence in Defense

Washington, April 3 (AP)—Deep in controversy over his claims at ammunition shortages in Korea, Gen. James A. Van Fleet had offer of a job that could give him potent influence on national defense.

It was an invitation to serve as staff military adviser to the Senate Appropriations Committee, which will have a big say about how many billions of dollars Congress will vote for defense in the months ahead.

Chairman Bridges (R.-N. H.) of the pursestring committee said he and Sen. Ferguson (R.-Mich.), chairman of the Defense Funds Subcommittee, yesterday invited Van Fleet to take the military adviser post.

"The general told us that he would take it under consideration," Ferguson said, adding it may be several days before Van Fleet decides.

Van Fleet's name came up at President Eisenhower's news conference yesterday.

A reporter asked about Van Fleet's testimony in Senate committees that in June 1951 he had planned an amphibious landing behind lines of retreating Red armies, but was stopped by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, then Far East theatre commander.

Eisenhower replied he had never heard of that landing plan.

Will Make Decision

Washington, April 3 (AP)—President Eisenhower has reserved to himself any final decision as to what level of combat strength the U. S. military forces should have. In fact, he told a news conference yesterday, he regards it as a responsibility that he could not delegate. The Defense Department is currently studying the question of a possible cut in military manpower—particularly in units stationed in the continental United States—as a move to reduce defense costs. Some impression had grown up that Eisenhower was leaving the matter to Secretary of Defense Wilson.

Rule Against Gas Cut

New York, April 3 (AP) — The State Public Service Commission yesterday ruled against a cut in rates for 1,200,000 natural gas customers of the Consolidated Edison Co., in Westchester county and parts of the Bronx, Manhattan and Queens. The commission ruled that the future of gas rates was "clouded with uncertainty," and that existing rates did not produce an excessive return on the property used in providing gas service to the public.

Security Director

tenor of what Eisenhower had said, the senator told reporters:

"I assume he would agree that if ship owners voluntarily remove their ships from trade with the Communists, that is a blow to the enemy and an aid to us."

McCarthy made public then a letter to Secretary of State Dulles announcing that another foreign ship owner was "voluntarily removing his vessels from the trade with Red China and the Soviet bloc nations."

Says He Got Pledges

The senator had announced Saturday he had "negotiated" an agreement with a New York group of Greeks who operate 242 ships. He said they pledged not to carry goods to Communist China and North Korea or between Communist ports.

This left them free, however, to haul goods from western waters to other Iron Curtain areas, and McCarthy told a reporter there is a reason for that. To seek to bind them to a complete west-to-east boycott, he said, "could have meant infringing on State Department jurisdiction, and we don't want to do that."

While the U. S. has barred all trade betwen this country and the Rds, some western nations permit some such trade because they need the Communist goods they get in retur :.

McCarthy, in a letter to Dulles yesterday said that some press and TV coverage deliberately misrepresented what had happened when he and Dulles met in a private conference Wednesday. He said a wire service reported that Dulles had "warned" McCarthy against interfering in State Department affairs, and that a television broadcast helped to foster that impression.

"As I recall it," McCarthy wrote Dulles, "there was not even the slightest indication by anyone present that my committee was interfering in foreign policy or in any way with your department, and, therefore, no occasion for any 'warning.'"

Police Find Lock Forced by Prowler

Local police last night found a lock tampered with on a Clifton avenue house and a window of the H. F. King Corp., boiler room open.

A report at 10:30 p. m., said a Clifton avenue resident saw a light go out in a room of her house as she was about to enter. She was afraid to go inside she said, and officers Raymond Wells and Francis Loeffler were dispatched there. They said a lock on the front door had been tampered with.

A report at 10:05 said a Liberty street resident reported seeing two men with flashlights run through the back entrance of the H. F. King building. Officers William Norton and John Crespino reported finding the window in the boiler room section open.

Stone Ridge Church To Show Easter Film

Golgotha tells of the inspiring story of the last days on earth of Jesus of Nazareth, his triumphal entry into Jerusalem and the driving of the merchants from the temple.

His final hours in the Garden of Gethsemane also are portrayed as are the trials before the high priests and before Pilate and Herod and finally His last message to His disciples after the resurrection.

The Rev. Malcolm Shattuck also said today that an Easter sunrise service for the residents of the Stone Ridge community will be held at 6 a. m. across from the Oliver Bogart residence. Will Make Decision

Washington, April 3 (AP)—President Eisenhower has reserved to himself any final decision as to what level of combat strength the U. S. military forces should have. In fact, he told a news conference yesterday, he regards it as a responsibility that he could not delegate. The Defense Department is currently studying the question of a possible cut in military manpower—particularly in units stationed in the continental United States—as a move to reduce defense costs. Some impression had grown up that Eisenhower was leaving the matter to Secretary of Defense Wilson.

Rule Against Gas Cut

New York, April 3 (AP) — The State Public Service Commission yesterday ruled against a cut in rates for 1,200,000 natural gas customers of the Consolidated Edison Co., in Westchester county and parts of the Bronx, Manhattan and Queens. Security Director

tenor of what Eisenhower had said, the senator told reporters:

"I assume he would agree that if ship owners voluntarily remove their ships from trade with the Communists, that is a blow to the enemy and an aid to us."

McCarthy made public then a letter to Secretary of State Dulles announcing that another foreign ship owner was "voluntarily removing his vessels from the trade with Red China and the Soviet bloc nations."

Says He Got Pledges

The senator had announced Saturday he had "negotiated" an agreement with a New York group of Greeks who operate 242 ships. He said they pledged not to carry goods to Communist China and North Korea or between Communist ports.

This left them free, however, to haul goods from western waters to other Iron Curtain areas, and McCarthy told a reporter there is a reason for that. To seek to bind them to a complete west-to-east boycott, he said, "could have meant infringing on State Department jurisdiction, and we don't want to do that."

While the U. S. has barred all trade betwen this country and the Rds, some western nations permit some such trade because they need the Communist goods they get in retur n.

McCarthy, in a letter to Dulles yesterday said that some press and TV coverage deliberately misrepresented what had happened when he and Dulles met in a private conference Wednesday. He said a wire service reported that Dulles had "warned" McCarthy against interfering in State Department affairs, and that a television broadcast helped to foster that impression.

"As I recall it," McCarthy wrote Dulles, "there was not even the slightest indication by anyone present that my committee was interfering in foreign policy or in any way with your department, and, therefore, no occasion for any 'warning.'"

Truman Ammo Answer

Coconut Island, Hawaii, April 3 (AP) — Former President Truman said yesterday that if the Russians "are in earnest we will have peace. If not we won't." Truman, vacationing here with his wife and daughter, told newsmen there "never was any serious shortage of ammunition in Korea while he was President. "Our only difficulty was we couldn't produce enough for NATO, Indochina and all the other trouble spots in the world. But now we're over the hump," he said.

During the present year the American Cancer Society is supporting 270 grants-in-aid and 31 institutional grants. Aid this work by giving to the 1953 ACS crusade.

You might have been saved all that brain-sweating figuring if you'd had one of the International Business Machine company's just-unveiled electronic calculators around to solve your problem in something like minus-nothing flat. Unglamorously named merely "701," the mechanical brain was recently unveiled in New York. While you wait in the conference room at upper right, "701" can, in six minutes, buzz through a mathematical problem that would take men eight weeks to work. Ike Is Puzzled Over Large Stores of Butter

Washington, April 3 (AP)—President Eisenhower says butter is pricing itself out of the market, and unless there is some change in the government price support program, he doesn't know what the solution is.

The government is currently buying, at 67 2/3 cents a pound, about two million pounds a day, the President told his news conference, and some of its huge stock is getting close to the spoilage point.

It's a crime against civilization to allow to spoil anything that could be used by someone, even if it had to be virtually given away, Eisenhower said. He added he couldn't imagine anything worse than to destroy it when people are hungry.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson, who has announced he will continue to support prices of dairy products at present levels for another year, is currently meeting with dairy industry representatives in an effort to solve an overproduction problem.

Needy Jews Receive Passover Supplies

Nearly 270,000 pounds of matzoth and other Passover supplies have been purchased by Joint Distribution Committee European headquarters for distribution to needy Jews in Europe, North Africa and the Near East, it was announced here last week by Moses W. Beckelman, JDC Director-General for overseas operations.

The supplies include 201,600 pounds of matzoth and 67,200 pounds of matzoh meal. Additional supplies purchased in the United States and shipped to Europe for distribution include 1,000 pounds of shmurah flour, and more than 8,000 bottles of wine. Funds for JDC's overseas relief, rehabilitation and resettlement programs are provided by the United Jewish Appeal.

Despite the cessation of JDC activities in Hungary in January, the Jews of that country will still be able to celebrate Passover with JDC's supplies. Shipped to Hungary early this year were 100,000 pounds of matzoth and 40,000 pounds of matzoh meal, the largest amount for any single Jewish community in Europe.

Other countries into which major shipments of Passover foods have been sent include Yugoslavia, Greece, Austria, Spain, Portugal and Italy.

In 38 years, JDC has spent nearly $3,125,000 for special Passover appropriations, sending more than 20,525,000 pounds of supplies to needy men, women and children overseas.

QUEEN MARY'S WILL AND SPIRIT

Queen Mary was the perfection of regal grace and dignity, the symbol of moral rightness. She stood supremely for the triumph of duty and service above all else. And she was the last bearer of a great imperial tradition whose foundations began to crumble long before her life ebbed away.

Her 85 years encompassed all or part of the reigns of six sovereigns, beginning with Queen Victoria. She was wife to King George V, mother of Edward VIII and George VI, grandmother to the reigning Queen Elizabeth II.

This lifetime spanned much of Britain's modern history, including two world wars, the great depression, and the troubled, austere postwar era. For her, the keystone in this long arch probably was the Silver Jubilee celebration of her husband's 25th year on the throne, in 1935.

In World War I she bore conscientiously the heavy burdens laid inevitably upon the royal family. Again in World War II, she took a major part in royal activities supporting the British war effort. She was always a familiar figure at fairs, bazaars and shops, doing her steady bit to stimulate her country's trade.

Inescapably, tragedy struck her many times. Her son, Prince John, died at the age of 13. After George V died in January, 1936, her eldest son, the Prince of Wales, became Edward VIII. But that December, before he could be crowned, Edward abdicated to marry Mrs. Wallis Simpson, an American divorcee. This was perhaps her greatest heartbreak.

In World War II another son, the Duke of Kent, died on an air force mission. And then, in February of 1952, George VI, who had succeeded Edward, died after only 15 years of rule.

Through it all, Queen Mary bore herself in the grand manner, conscious ever of the heritage she symbolized. As if fearing they would somehow detract from her stature, she shrank from using some of the most common of modern inventions, especially the telephone and television.

Contrarily, she bestowed a lingering fame on two quite ancient inventions, the furled, ruffled parasol and a species of upright hat so bedecked with flowers and frills as to defy contemporary streamlining.

How sad that her final wish, to see her granddaughter crowned, was denied her. The young Elizabeth was in a sense the last product of the old queen's will and spirit; from Queen Mary she took instruction in the ways of reigning royalty.

When the crowning comes, Mary will not be there to watch. But in the new queen will be much of her, all the same. Indeed, there is something of her in every Briton, in every free man, who regards well the qualities that marked her passage along the path of history.

Science can now transmit brain waves by telephone over great distances. A girl we know believes that it is far more important that her permanent wave can be noticed from across the room.

FOR SIMPLER TAXES

Now that income taxes have slowly been giving way to Easter plans as subjects for conversation, a rather astonishing fact comes to light. In almost any informal gathering one or two people will be found insisting that they would willingly pay more rather than less income taxes if the payment thereof could be made simpler. Someone usually wishes Uncle Whiskers would take a percentage of his gross income, let him pay it and forget it. He hates the exemptions and deductions and taking three per cent of something and dividing it by seventeen.

But perhaps if he were a middle-aged man making seventy-five dollars a week with which to take care of a wife and four growing children, he would not think it just to pay the same tax as the young bachelor making the same amount.

So some figuring may be necessary. But surely the whole process could be made simpler and easier. Moreover, clear and simple taxes are not so subject to abuse as the mass of hidden taxes of all sorts which dribble away and where are they?

THOSE HIDDEN FILES

References to FBI files have been constant during the past few years with little understanding of what they are. Perhaps it would be advantageous to explain how intelligence services generally gather and evaluate information. This would apply to all agencies, except that some eliminate data at low levels, which is usually regarded as a dangerous process.

Such an organization as the FBI, in its raw files, will contain a vast amount of material, of varying value, which comes from many sources. Some of the data are demonstrably true; some require investigation and substantiation; some may be viciously false and may indicate that the provider should be investigated.

A sound intelligence organization eliminates nothing on a current question. What may seem to be preposterous today may turn out to be absolutely correct a year from now. Data should only be eliminated as useless and incorrect when a file is closed.

If an intelligence agency eliminates data on a low level, its files may prove to be inadequate and practically useless when a situation becomes hot. Evaluation of data is an extremely difficult undertaking involving specialized knowledge and extraordinarily sound judgment.

For instance, in the evaluation of material concerning areas, such as Russia, China, Albania, Egypt, Israel, or any other place, the evaluator must have knowledge, prior to his approach to the data, of the language, the history, geography, traditions, religious conflicts, social institutions, personalities, and about everything else. Without these skills, an evaluator could not understand the material before him.

Therefore no properly organized intelligence organization would permit the elimination of any material from its raw files at any time, lest the judgment of the evaluator of the material might at some time prove to have been fallacious.

If the material deals with crime, sabotage, espionage, subversion, the evaluation is very difficult. The skilled spy, for instance, leaves few traces. He usually works under a "cover," that is, he has a vocation far removed from espionage, one that is extremely usual and respectable.

It takes a competent counter-espionage operator to evaluate adequately a vast quantity of uncorrelated material which he must put together into a mosaic of fact. Careless or prejudiced evaluation may save the spy. Some day the story of the spy, Arthur Adams, may be released officially. It would be a case history of how a spy works and what a counter-espionage organization needs to do to keep up with him. The FBI is not at fault that Arthur Adams left this country unscathed—and the reason for that should be made public.

In dealing with subversives, an intelligence organization in a free country enccunters enormous difficulties, because of the Constitutional and other legal protectives that the subversive person enjoys. This often involves the question of intent, which cannot be proved. For instance, a Republican or Democrat may favor an end to the Korean War because he dislikes useless bloodshed; a subversive may advocate the same idea with the intent of softening up the American people in favor of Soviet Russia. The intent is different and that is important.

The raw files of the FBI or any other agency should not be shown to untrained eyes. They would reach false conclusions. No man, no matter how skillful, could look at only one raw file and reach a sound conclusion; he would have to correlate what he saw in that file with material in dozens of other files.

On the other hand, the Constitution provides that government officials should be appointed with the advice and consent of the Senate. Any committee of Congress would accept an FBI evaluation as long as the agency remains non-political and objective. Such evaluations should be provided directly to Congressional committees upon requisition. Showing such an evaluation to two Senators, as in the Bohlen case, is silly. If two can look at it, ten can. If a committee of Congress cannot be trusted, why should a State Department official be trusted?

If an FBI evaluation were available, much of the investigative work of Congressional committees could be eliminated. The obiter dictum of a highly placed official is worthless because he has made no study of the material, and even if he were to make a study, the question arises whether he is sufficiently skilled, in a highly specialized field, to evaluate the material. Few can.

That Body of Yours

STOMACH DISORDERS IN THE AGED

When men and women past 40 years of age begin to have pains in their stomach at regular or even irregular intervals, they should consult their physician, as cancer of the stomach comes in such a quiet manner that simple indigestion only is usually suspected. Yet it is known that cancer of the stomach is responsible for three times as many deaths as automobile accidents.

Many elderly men and women naturally cannot understand why the same diet they have followed for years now causes disturbances in the stomach. What they and most of us forget is that, as we grow older, various glands and processes change so that they are unable to handle these foods as in past years. These changes, due to aging, appear to be particularly present in the stomach.

In the Vienna Medical Journal, Dr. G. Holler states that during the process of aging, the stomach undergoes changes. The thickness of the stomach wall decreases, the muscle tissue in the wall becomes weaker, and the lining (the part manufacturing digestive juice) begins to waste away. Fatty degeneration of the muscle fibers is observed and the glandular part which manufactures the digestive juices decreases, along with the blood supply of the lining of the stomach.

"Aged persons may have an unusually large stomach without necessarily having stomach disturbances. Many have a decreased amount or entire loss of hydrochloric acid in the stomach digestive juice."

Both loss of hydrochloric acid and chronic gastritis (inflammation of the stomach lining) are frequent in the aged, which condition favors the development of cancer of the stomach.

Dr. Holler groups, according to their age, 69 with stomach cancer who were observed at his hospital between 1946 and 1951, 37 of whom were between the ages of 60 and 80.

Dr. Holler further stresses that all patients of the cancer age (over 40) who seek medical aid because of stomach disorders should be studied thoroughly, if possible in a hospital, until cancer is ruled out.

One of the great obstacles to early discovery of cancer of the stomach is the quiet or insidious manner in which cancer starts. For this reason Dr. L. R. Savite, Professor of Radiology, St. Louis University School of Medicine, in Post Graduate Medicine, states that when certain improvements in fluoroscopy (X-ray) are developed, mass surveys of those of cancer age may prove helpful as these improvements brighten or sharpen the image on the screen so that it is almost as clear as the X-ray method itself.

It Sounds a Lot Easier Than It Looks

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — Liquidation by June 30, 1954, of RFC—the government's huge money-lending Reconstruction Finance Corporation—has now been agreed upon by President Eisenhower and the Republican congressional leaders.

This is being hailed widely as a step in the right direction to get the government out of business. But it will be easier said than done.

It is a simple matter for Congress to abolish RFC by passing a simple law to end its lending authority. There would be a certain amount of kidding in this act, however.

A number of the present RFC functions won't be abolished. They will simply be transferred to other agencies, where they will continue merrily on their way.

The three principal categories here are:

1—The disaster loan program for aid to farmers hit by drouth, flood, storm or crop pestilence. You can bet money that Congress won't abolish that. The whole business will be put in one of Department of Agriculture's loan agencies and continue better than ever, if not even bigger.

2—The small-business loan program. Aid to small business has become something almost sacred in government—like Home, Mother and the Flag used to be, or still are. No congressman dares be against small business. So RFC's small-business portfolio will probably be given to Department of Commerce, or the Small Defense Plant Corporation to administer and to continue.

3—The defense loan program. This one is now in two parts. First is aid to defense plants considered necessary for the production of arms. Second is financial assistance for the construction of civil defense structures like hospitals or bomb shelters.

Some Have 25 Years to Run

It has been glibly suggested that this, that or the other of RFC lending programs could easily be transferred to Federal Reserve Bank. But the FRB doesn't want to be bothered by such things. And as the government's principal agency to stabilize banking conditions, there is good reason why it should not be put in business as a lender.

Most of RFC's business loans are made with a 10-year limit. The bulk of these loans have six or seven years to run. But some of the big RFC loans to railroads, banks, insurance companies and local governments have 25 years to run. So it may take at least that long to liquidate RFC completely.

As of Jan. 1, 1953, RFC had over 25,000 loans outstanding with a total face value of over $760 million, divided as follows:

	No. of Loans	Amt. in Millions
Business loans ..	2252	$378
Defense Production Act loans ..	292	93
Railroads	11	80
Financial institutions	72	47
Local gov'r'ments	268	22
Disaster loans ...	3388	17
Insured and guaranteed mortgages	16031	72
Foreign (Philippine Islands) ..	1	54

Can't Sell Loan Portfolio

There is no provision in the RFC act which would enable it to sell its loan portfolio, except perhaps in the case of the railroad and financial institution loans in which RFC actually holds the stock. To liquidate all the other loans by sale might change control of the borrowing company and so affect its standing.

For example, RFC recently tried to sell its Central of Georgia Railroad stock. The deal was all but closed on a basis that would have enabled RFC to sell at a profit. But somehow there was a leak in information on the pending sale. The stock dropped on the market and the deal had to be canceled.

A number of big RFC loans—like that to the Glenn L. Martin aviation company — have been canceled by refinancing. The controversial B&O Railroad bond issue loan is now down to $65 million and is being retired as rapidly as possible.

That is the trend, in every field of its endeavor. As business continues good, the need for RFC diminishes. If another recession or depression came along, the story might be different.

In its 20-odd years of existence, the RFC that was started under President Herbert Hoover has made over 125,000 loans for a total of nearly $14 billion. In this period it has paid all its costs of operation and left a surplus of $620 million.

If all other government agencies had done as well, there probably wouldn't be any kick.

Latest Peace Move by Soviet Russia Is Seen As Try to Bar NATO Forces in Europe

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 3—An era of "talk" which may last for a year or more, with proposals for an over-all settlement of vital questions between the East and West—but on terms to be dictated by Moscow—is the real meaning of the maneuvers of the last few days by Soviet Russia.

The big bait to be dangled before the Western allies is an end to the fighting in Korea. This move is calculated to sweep the Western countries with such psychological force as to pave the way for the "peace at any price" stage which Moscow has been awaiting ever since the Korean War broke out.

The key to the riddle is to be found in re-examining the circumstances under which Yakov A. Malik, in June, 1951, proposed a truce in Korea. Coincident with his announcement came inspired dispatches from Moscow indicating that Korea was merely a part of the over-all problem and that the Soviet Union desired a comprehensive settlement.

But the Moscow move failed because the Western allies didn't give an inch either on the Austrian treaty or in their efforts toward the building of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Europe. So Moscow just allowed things to drift along while the Red Chinese brought in reinforcements and amassed bigger stockpiles of planes and munitions for the Korean War. From a military standpoint the Communists are stronger in the Far East and stronger in Europe than they were in January, 1951.

It has always been a puzzle as to why Soviet Russia would react so mildly to what was happening in Europe—namely, the emergence of NATO and later the European defense army, both of which steps were close to Russia's threshold—while pretending at least to be giving much attention to what was happening in Asia.

But now, with the ratification of the European defense pact by the lower House in Germany and the probability that American diplomacy can bring France into line, the time has come for Russia to start a delaying and retarding movement.

Since inside Germany, France, and Britain are strong Socialist movements which, while not pro-Communist, are nevertheless in favor of peace with the Soviet Union at almost any price, the Moscow strategists know that a spectacular bid for peace at this time may kill the European defense army altogether and possibly weaken the NATO military setup. Budgets everywhere are bigger than tax receipts, and the people in each country are clamoring for relief from heavy taxes.

The emphasis which the West has placed on deeds as against words has probably impressed Moscow. This time the Soviet Union and Red China are ready to stop the actual fighting. It does not cost them anything in prestige to do so, because the situation is exactly the same militarily as it was in June, 1950, when the Korean war broke out. North Korea is occupied by the Communists and will stay that way during a protracted period of futile negotiations in which the Western Allies will call in vain for withdrawal of Communist forces from North Korea and for the unification of the country.

It will be interesting to see whether the major nations will "sell out" South Korea—which has been making nearly all the sacrifices of blood and treasure—to get a paper pledge of a unified and independent country, or whether the Allies, though talking about unification, will refuse to withdraw Allied forces until all Communist troops are withdrawn. For, once the fighting stops, the leverage against the North Korean puppets and the Red Chinese will be gone unless South Korea becomes strong enough to be a potentially powerful striking force.

So Moscow is ready to start over-all peace talks and this means endless conversations on everything, involving Europe as well as Asia. During that period there will be an increasing military effort made behind the Iron Curtain and a bold attempt to get East-West trade started so as to obtain strategic materials and machinery for further armament efforts.

The Moscow regime is prepared to barter and bargain, of course. It will halt the fighting in Korea, give up Allied prisoners, and start negotiation of questions to be discussed by the so-called "political" conference. These involve the broad questions of Korea's future. In return for having given up the prisoners and the stoppage of fighting, Soviet Russia will then ask for admission of Red China into the United Nations and a reopening of East-West trade in all commodities, including strategic materials.

The Soviets are doubtless being advised by Anglo-Saxon Communists in their midst that it is unwise to try to impose conditions ahead of time and that it is better to give up the prisoners, halt the hostilities, and then be in a position to get a reopening of trade and admission of Red China to the UN, for this is really the British and Contenental viewpoint.

It is when the conferences start on the "political" level that the world will witness a repetition of some of the interminable bickering which has characterized many conferences of Foreign Ministers held with Moscow diplomats since 1945. The Russians drive a hard bargain and, if they can keep Continental Europe from rearming, they may agree to a few concessions—possibly even to discuss the idea of reuniting East and West Germany. This would be effective bait inside Germany, as Bonn dispatches have already indicated.

So the big game has begun, and it does look as if the trump card of the Russians is to stop the Korean fighting and then point to a "deed" and ask for further agreements that will give the Soviet Union and Red China time to build up their munitions plants and their armies and air forces.

Just as many people in the world believed that Hitler meant peace at Munich in 1938, so many will believe the same thing now as Russia holds forth an olive branch. But the end result will be the same—the Kremlin will be a threat to the peace of the world until it is crumbled from within or through external pressure exerted through satellite countries. The talks, however, will go on among the top-level diplomats till the world is finally disillusioned about the evil men who rule in Moscow today.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

New York, (AP)—America today is divided into two great classes—those who diet, and those who laugh at 'em.

Dieting began as a fad, now is one of the nation's greatest industries. It spread faster than television, but doesn't have as many good sustaining programs.

The people who used to laugh at Bernard MacFadden as a health fanatic because he carried carrots in his pockets now try to find out where he buys them. The empty stomach has replaced the full dinner pail as an American success symbol. But, of course, it has to be fashionably empty.

A hungry man used to be a financial failure. Today a man of wealth who gets fat is regarded as an anti-social wretch who is deliberately plotting to make his wife a widow.

This is odd, because for centuries in China a middle-aged man's wealth was measured by the size of his paunch. And he remained remarkably free of the heart ailments that ambush the chubby executives in this country. Maybe one reason is that the civilized Orientals found out long ago that lying on a couch and munching rice while listening to a little lute music didn't wear the heart out as fast as chasing a golf ball.

But millions of Americans, rich or poor, male or female, now seem to feel that less food, rather than less tension, is the formula for a long life. They no longer count sheep while trying to cure insomnia. Makes them think of food. So they count calories jumping over a fence—the calories they plan to eat tomorrow.

As a matter of fact, a zealous dieter hardly can mention food any more without a twinge of conscience. When one meets another, he boasts, "guess what I had for lunch today?—350 calories and five minerals. You should of jointed me."

If he finds that he has exceeded his calorie quota he starts worrying—and up zooms his high blood pressure. Is that good?

It used to be said that it was easier for a camel to go through the eye of the needle than for a rich man to enter the gates of heaven. Many a diet-lean rich man now dreams fondly of galloping through that needle on horseback.

Unusual Theory

A Wall Street broker looks like a piece of upright spaghetti as he scans his ticker tape. The working man is going in just as much for calorie-nibbling. He no longer carries a toothpick. He is one.

The biggest danger to a healthy, normal, happy, relaxed, cheerful, easy-going fat man now is that he will laugh himself to death at the ex-tubbies trying to live to be 100 on lettuce leaves and vitamin pills. A rabbit eats lettuce. Ever meet one with a long beard?

One fat friend of mine has an unusual theory about the dieting craze.

"It's all just a housewives' conspiracy to get out of the kitchen chores," he said. "They aren't trying to make their husbands live longer. They're just trying to cut down on the time they spend cooking.

"They used to have to spend at least four hours a day in their kitchen. Now all a wife has to do to fix a meal is to ax up a few vegetables for a raw salad and hold a lambchop for a few seconds over a lighted match. Then dinner's ready.

"I say any husband who lets his wife starve him to death that way ought to have a saccharine tablet over his grave instead of a monument."

In World War II another son, the Duke of Kent, died on an air force mission. And then, in February of 1952, George VI, who had succeeded Edward, died after only 15 years of rule.

Through it all, Queen Mary bore herself in the grand manner, conscious ever of the heritage she symbolized. As if fearing they would somehow detract from her stature, she shrank from using some of the most common of modern inventions, especially the telephone and television.

Contrarily, she bestowed a lingering fame on two quite ancient inventions, the furled, ruffled parasol and a species of upright hat so bedecked with flowers and frills as to defy contemporary streamlining.

How sad that her final wish, to see her granddaughter crowned, was denied her. The young Elizabeth was in a sense the last product of the old queen's will and spirit; from Queen Mary she took instruction in the ways of reigning royalty.

When the crowning comes, Mary will not be there to watch. But in the new queen will be much of her, all the same. Indeed, there is something of her in every Briton, in every free man, who regards well the qualities that marked her passage along the path of history.

Science can now transmit brain waves by telephone over great distances. A girl we know believes that it is far more important that her permanent wave can be noticed from across the room.

FOR SIMPLER TAXES

Now that income taxes have slowly been giving way to Easter plans as subjects for conversation, a rather astonishing fact comes to light. In almost any informal gathering one or two people will be found insisting that they would willingly pay more rather than less income taxes if the payment thereof could be made simpler. Someone usually wishes Uncle Whiskers would take a percentage of his gross income, let him pay it and forget it. He hates the exemptions and deductions and taking three per cent of something and dividing it by seventeen.

But perhaps if he were a middle-aged man making seventy-five dollars a week with which to take care of a wife and four growing children, he would not think it just to pay the same tax as the young bachelor making the same amount.

So some figuring may be necessary. But surely the whole process could be made simpler and easier. Moreover, clear and simple taxes are not so subject to abuse as the mass of hidden taxes of all sorts which dribble away and where are they?

THOSE HIDDEN FILES

References to FBI files have been constant during the past few years with little understanding of what they are. Perhaps it would be advantageous to explain now intelligence services generally gather and evaluate information. This would apply to all agencies, except that some eliminate data at low levels, which is usually regarded as a dangerous process.

Such an organization as the FBI, in its raw files, will contain a vast amount of material, of varying value, which comes from many sources. Some of the data are demonstrably true; some require investigation and substantiation; some may be viciously false and may indicate that the provider should be investigated.

A sound intelligence organization eliminates nothing on a current question. What may seem to be preposterous today may turn out to be absolutely correct a year from now. Data should only be eliminated as useless and incorrect when a file is closed.

If an intelligence agency eliminates data on a low level, its files may prove to be inadequate and practically useless when a situation becomes hot. Evaluation of data is an extremely difficult undertaking involving specialized knowledge and extraordinarily sound judgment.

For instance, in the evaluation of material concerning areas, such as Russia, China, Albania, Egypt, Israel, or any other place, the evaluator must have knowledge, prior to his approach to the data, of the language, the history, geography, traditions, religious conflicts, social institutions, personalities, and about everything else. Without these skills, an evaluator could not understand the material before him.

Therefore no properly organized intelligence organization would permit the elimination of any material from its raw files at any time, lest the judgment of the evaluator of the material might at some time prove to have been fallacious.

If the material deals with crime, sabotage, espionage, subversion, the evaluation is very difficult. The skilled spy, for instance, leaves few traces. He usually works under a "cover," that is, he has a vocation far removed from espionage, one that is extremely usual and respectable.

It takes a competent counter-espionage operator to evaluate adequately a vast quantity of uncorrelated material which he must put together into a mosaic of fact. Careless or prejudiced evaluation may save the spy. Some day the story of the spy, Arthur Adams, may be released officially. It would be a case history of how a spy works and what a counter-espionage organization needs to do to keep up with him. The FBI is not at fault that Arthur Adams left this country unscathed—and the reason for that should be made public.

In dealing with subversives, an intelligence organization in a free country encounters enormous difficulties, because of the Constitutional and other legal protectives that the subversive person enjoys. This often involves the question of intent, which cannot be proved. For instance, a Republican or Democrat may favor an end to the Korean War because he dislikes useless bloodshed; a subversive may advocate the same idea with the intent of softening up the American people in favor of Soviet Russia. The intent is different and that is important.

The raw files of the FBI or any other agency should not be shown to untrained eyes. They would reach false conclusions. No man, no matter how skillful, could look at only one raw file and reach a sound conclusion; he would have to correlate what he saw in that file with material in dozens of other files.

On the other hand, the Constitution provides that government officials should be appointed with the advice and consent of the Senate. Any committee of Congress would accept an FBI evaluation as long as the agency remains non-political and objective. Such evaluations should be provided directly to Congressional committees upon requisition. Showing such an evaluation to two Senators, as in the Bohlen case, is silly. If two can look at it, ten can. If a committee of Congress cannot be trusted, why should a State Department official be trusted?

If an FBI evaluation were available, much of the investigative work of Congressional committees could be eliminated. The obiter dictum of a highly placed official is worthless because he has made no study of the material, and even if he were to make a study, the question arises whether he is sufficiently skilled, in a highly specialized field, to evaluate the material. Few can.

STOMACH DISORDERS IN THE AGED

When men and women past 40 years of age begin to have pains in their stomach at regular or even irregular intervals, they should consult their physician, as cancer of the stomach comes in such a quiet manner that simple indigestion only is usually suspected. Yet it is known that cancer of the stomach is responsible for three times as many deaths as automobile accidents.

Many elderly men and women naturally cannot understand why the same diet they have followed for years now causes disturbances in the stomach. What they and most of us forget is that, as we grow older, various glands and processes change so that they are unable to handle these foods as in past years. These changes, due to aging, appear to be particularly present in the stomach.

In the Vienna Medical Journal, Dr. G. Holler states that during the process of aging, the stomach undergoes changes. The thickness of the stomach wall decreases, the muscle tissue in the wall becomes weaker, and the lining (the part manufacturing digestive juice) begins to waste away.. Fatty degeneration of the muscle fibers is observed and the glandular part which manufactures the digestive juices decreases, along with the blood supply of the lining of the stomach.

"Aged persons may have an unusually large stomach without necessarily having stomach disturbances. Many have a decreased amount or entire loss of hydrochloric acid in the stomach digestive juice."

Both loss of hydrochloric acid and chronic gastritis (inflammation of the stomach lining) are frequent in the aged, which condition favors the development of cancer of the stomach.

Dr. Holler groups, according to their age, 69 with stomach cancer who were observed at his hospital between 1946 and 1951, 37 of whom were between the ages of 60 and 80.

Dr. Holler further stresses that all patients of the cancer age (over 40) who seek medical aid because of stomach disorders should be studied thoroughly, if possible in a hospital, until cancer is ruled out.

One of the great obstacles to early discovery of cancer of the stomach is the quiet or insidious manner in which cancer starts. For this reason Dr. L. R. Savite, Professor of Radiology, St. Louis University School of Medicine, in Post Graduate Medicine, states that when certain improvements in fluoroscopy (X-ray) are developed, mass surveys of those of cancer age may prove helpful as these improvements brighten or sharpen the image on the screen so that it is almost as clear as the X-ray method itself.

It Sounds a Lot Easier Than It Looks

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington -- (NEA) — Liquidation by June 30, 1954, of RFC—the government's huge money-lending Reconstruction Finance Corporation—has now been agreed upon by President Eisenhower and the Republican congressional leaders.

This is being hailed widely as a step in the right direction to get the government out of business. But it will be easier said than done.

It is a simple matter for Congress to abolish RFC by passing a simple law to end its lending authority. There would be a certain amount of kidding in this act, however.

A number of the present RFC functions won't be abolished. They will simply be transferred to other agencies, where they will continue merrily on their way.

The three principal categories here are:

1—The disaster loan program for aid to farmers hit by drouth, flood, storm or crop pestilence. You can bet money that Congress won't abolish that. The whole business will be put in one of Department of Agriculture's loan agencies and continue better than ever, if not even bigger.

2—The small-business loan program. Aid to small business has become something almost sacred in government—like Home, Mother and the Flag used to be, or still are. No congressman dares be against small business. So RFC's small-business portfolio will probably be given to Department of Commerce, or the Small Defense Plant Corporation to administer and to continue.

3—The defense loan program. This one is now in two parts. First is aid to defense plants considered necessary for the production of arms. Second is financial assistance for the construction of civil defense structures like hospitals or bomb shelters.

Some Have 25 Years to Run

It has been glibly suggested that this, that or the other of RFC lending programs could easily be transferred to Federal Reserve Bank. But the FRB doesn't want to be bothered by such things. And as the government's principal agency to stabilize banking conditions, there is good reason why it should not be put in business as a lender.

Most of RFC's business loans are made with a 10-year limit. The bulk of these loans have six or seven years to run. But some of the big RFC loans to railroads, banks, insurance companies and local governments have 25 years to run. So it may take at least that long to liquidate RFC completely.

As of Jan. 1, 1953, RFC had over 25,000 loans outstanding with a total face value of over $760 million, divided as follows:

	No. of Loans	Amt. in Millions
Business loans ..	2252	$378
Defense Production Act loans ..	292	93
Railroads	11	80
Financial institutions	72	47
Local gov'r'ments	268	22
Disaster loans ...	3388	17
Insured and guaranteed mortgages	16031	72
Foreign (Philippine Islands) ..	1	54

Can't Sell Loan Portfolio

There is no provision in the RFC act which would enable it to sell its loan portfolio, except perhaps in the case of the railroad and financial institution loans in which RFC actually holds the stock. To liquidate all the other loans by sale might change control of the borrowing company and so affect its standing.

For example, RFC recently tried to sell its Central of Georgia Railroad stock. The deal was all but closed on a basis that would have enabled RFC to sell at a profit. But somehow there was a leak in information on the pending sale. The stock dropped on the market and the deal had to be canceled.

A number of big RFC loans—like that to the Glenn L. Martin aviation company — have been canceled by refinancing. The controversial B&O Railroad bond issue loan is now down to $65 million and is being retired as rapidly as possible.

That is the trend, in every field of its endeavor. As business continues good, the need for RFC diminishes. If another recession or depression came along, the story might be different.

In its 20-odd years of existence, the RFC that was started under President Herbert Hoover has made over 125,000 loans for a total of nearly $14 billion. In this period it has paid all its costs of operation and left a surplus of $620 million.

If all other government agencies had done as well, there probably wouldn't be any kick.

Latest Peace Move by Soviet Russia Is Seen As Try to Bar NATO Forces in Europe

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 3—An era of "talk" which may last for a year or more, with proposals for an over-all settlement of vital questions between the East and West—but on terms to be dictated by Moscow—is the real meaning of the maneuvers of the last few days by Soviet Russia.

The big bait to be dangled before the Western allies is an end to the fighting in Korea. This move is calculated to sweep the Western countries with such psychological force as to pave the way for the "peace at any price" stage which Moscow has been awaiting ever since the Korean War broke out.

The key to the riddle is to be found in re-examining the circumstances under which Yakov A. Malik, in June, 1951, proposed a truce in Korea. Coincident with his announcement came inspired dispatches from Moscow indicating that Korea was merely a part of the over-all problem and that the Soviet Union desired a comprehensive settlement.

But the Moscow move failed because the Western allies didn't give an inch either on the Austrian treaty or in their efforts toward the building of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Europe. So Moscow just allowed things to drift along while the Red Chinese brought in reinforcements and amassed bigger stockpiles of planes and munitions for the Korean War. From a military standpoint the Communists are stronger in the Far East and stronger in Europe than they were in January, 1951.

It has always been a puzzle as to why Soviet Russia would react so mildly to what was happening in Europe—namely, the emergence of NATO and later the European defense army, both of which steps were close to Russia's threshold—while pretending at least to be giving much attention to what was happening in Asia.

But now, with the ratification of the European defense pact by the lower House in Germany and the probability that American diplomacy can bring France into line, the time has come for Russia to start a delaying and retarding movement.

Since inside Germany, France, and Britain are strong Socialist movements which, while not pro-Communist, are nevertheless in favor of peace with the Soviet Union at almost any price, the Moscow strategists know that a spectacular bid for peace at this time may kill the European defense army altogether and possibly weaken the NATO military setup. Budgets everywhere are bigger than tax receipts, and the people in each country are clamoring for relief from heavy taxes.

The emphasis which the West has placed on deeds as against words has probably impressed Moscow. This time the Soviet Union and Red China are ready to stop the actual fighting. It does not cost them anything in prestige to do so, because the situation is exactly the same militarily as it was in June, 1950, when the Korean war broke out. North Korea is occupied by the Communists and will stay that way during a protracted period of futile negotiations in which the Western Allies will call in vain for withdrawal of Communist forces from North Korea and for the unification of the country.

It will be interesting to see whether the major nations will "sell out" South Korea—which has been making nearly all the sacrifices of blood and treasure—to get a paper pledge of a unified and independent country, or whether the Allies, though talking about unification, will refuse to withdraw Allied forces until all Communist troops are withdrawn. For, once the fighting stops, the leverage against the North Korean puppets and the Red Chinese will be gone unless South Korea becomes strong enough to be a potentially powerful striking force.

So Moscow is ready to start over-all peace talks and this means endless conversations on everything, involving Europe as well as Asia. During that period there will be an increasing military effort made behind the Iron Curtain and a bold attempt to get East-West trade started so as to obtain strategic materials and machinery for further armament efforts.

The Moscow regime is prepared to barter and bargain, of course. It will halt the fighting in Korea, give up Allied prisoners, and start negotiation of questions to be discussed by the so-called "political" conference. These involve the broad questions of Korea's future. In return for having given up the prisoners and the stoppage of fighting, Soviet Russia will then ask for admission of Red China into the United Nations and a reopening of East-West trade in all commodities, including strategic materials.

The Soviets are doubtless being advised by Anglo-Saxon Communists in their midst that it is unwise to try to impose conditions ahead of time and that it is better to give up the prisoners, halt the hostilities, and then be in a position to get a reopening of trade and admission of Red China to the UN, for this is really the British and Contenental viewpoint.

It is when the conferences start on the "political" level that the world will witness a repetition of some of the interminable bickering which has characterized many conferences of Foreign Ministers held with Moscow diplomats since 1945. The Russians drive a hard bargain and, if they can keep Continental Europe from rearming, they may agree to a few concessions—possibly even to discuss the idea of reuniting East and West Germany. This would be effective bait inside Germany, as Bonn dispatches have already indicated.

So the big game has begun, and it does look as if the trump card of the Russians is to stop the Korean fighting and then point to a "deed" and ask for further agreements that will give the Soviet Union and Red China time to build up their munitions plants and their armies and air forces.

Just as many people in the world believed that Hitler meant peace at Munich in 1938, so many will believe the same thing now as Russia holds forth an olive branch. But the end result will be the same—the Kremlin will be a threat to the peace of the world until it is crumbled from within or through external pressure exerted through satellite countries. The talks, however, will go on among the top-level diplomats till the world is finally disillusioned about the evil men who rule in Moscow today.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

New York, (AP)—America today is divided into two great classes—those who diet, and those who laugh at 'em.

Dieting began as a fad, now is one of the nation's greatest industries. It spread faster than television, but doesn't have as many good sustaining programs.

The people who used to laugh at Bernard MacFadden as a health fanatic because he carried carrots in his pockets now try to find out where he buys them. The empty stomach has replaced the full dinner pail as an American success symbol. But, of course, it has to be fashionably empty.

A hungry man used to be a financial failure. Today a man of wealth who gets fat is regarded as an anti-social wretch who is deliberately plotting to make his wife a widow.

This is odd, because for centuries in China a middle-aged man's wealth was measured by the size of his paunch. And he remained remarkably free of the heart ailments that ambush the chubby executives in this country. Maybe one reason is that the civilized Orientals found out long ago that lying on a couch and munching rice while listening to a little lute music didn't wear the heart out as fast as chasing a golf ball.

But millions of Americans, rich or poor, male or female, now seem to feel that less food, rather than less tension, is the formula for a long life. They no longer count sheep while trying to cure insomnia. Makes them think of food. So they count calories jumping over a fence—the calories they plan to eat tomorrow.

As a matter of fact, a zealous dieter hardly can mention food any more without a twinge of conscience. When one meets another, he boasts, "guess what I had for lunch today?—350 calories and five minerals. You should of jointed me."

If he finds that he has exceeded his calorie quota he starts worrying—and up zooms his high blood pressure. Is that good?

It used to be said that it was easier for a camel to go through the eye of the needle than for a rich man to enter the gates of heaven. Many a diet-lean rich man now dreams fondly of galloping through that needle on horseback.

Unusual Theory

A Wall Street broker looks like a piece of upright spaghetti as he scans his ticker tape. The working man is going in just as much for calorie-nibbling. He no longer carries a toothpick. He is one.

The biggest danger to a healthy, normal, happy, relaxed, cheerful, easy-going fat man now is that he will laugh himself to death at the ex-tubbies trying to live to be 100 on lettuce leaves and vitamin pills. A rabbit eats lettuce. Ever meet one with a long beard?

One fat friend of mine has an unusual theory about the dieting craze.

"It's all just a housewives' conspiracy to get out of the kitchen chores," he said. "They aren't trying to make their husbands live longer. They're just trying to cut down on the time they spend cooking.

They used to have to spend at least four hours a day in their kitchen. Now all a wife has to do to fix a meal is to ax up a few vegetables for a raw salad and hold a lambchop for a few seconds over a lighted match. Then dinner's ready.

"I say any husband who lets his wife starve him to death that way ought to have a saccharine tablet over his grave instead of a monument."

Korean Truce Is Concern of Firms And Customers

By T. E. APPLEGATE
(For SAM DAWSON)

New York, April 3 (AP)—Businessmen wish today they knew how a Korean truce would affect their daily lives.

They are not alone. Their customers would like to know; so would the government.

In all three cases, search for the answer goes far beyond the obvious query as to the next move in Russia's "peace offensive."

At first glance, many business leaders see no reason to lose their confidence in a lively and rising civilian demand strong enough in itself to support a healthy economy.

But they still would like to know if the government will cut down on defense spending and ease the tax bite on profits; also if customers will continue to buy in volume at present prices.

Consumers wonder if jobs will stay plentiful and if prices will decline or hold steady.

Government officials are interested in whether business will go ahead with plans to spend 27 billion dollars this year on new plants and equipment, and whether corporate and personal income tax cuts would stimulate enough spending to prevent any serious drop in sales volume, if a business setback occurred.

Opinions Vary

Opinions on these questions vary; the actual picture will become clear only on day-to-day developments.

Among those disclaiming any intent to trim expansion plans is Gwilym A. Price, president of Westington Electric Corp. He says his company's 300 million-dollar expansion program "is geared to peacetime growth and, in the long run, should not be affected by possible changes in the defense production requirement."

Belief is widespread that Korean peace would increase pressure in Washington for a balanced budget and tax reduction, to be accomplished by further "stretch-out" of spending for armament.

The administration even before the truce move was looking for ways to cut military expenditures if it could be done without hurting the combat situation. However, many contracts are in long-range development programs (such as applications of atomic energy) for which no cutback appears probable. And an end to the Korean fighting could mean a step-up in arms shipments to other trouble spots.

Many Demands for Goods

Some analysts feel the importance of defense spending as a support to the nation's economy has been over-emphasized.

General Motors delivered defense items totaling about 20 per cent of its sales last year. But in its annual report it describes such work as "considerably less attractive" than commercial business, from the standpoint of shareholder's return.

It adds that when "defense needs become less acute, it is our belief that industry's wheels will continue to turn at a satisfactory rate. There are all kinds of customer needs to satisfy."

The new peace moves failed yesterday to dampen investor interest in Allied Chemical & Dye Corp's 200 million dollar bond issue—the largest ever offered by an industrial company. It sold out quickly.

This display of confidence coincided with a recovery move in the stock market where jittery traders Monday and Tuesday unloaded shares at lower prices.

The comeback was encouraging to those who look for business to prove it is not "afraid of peace."

Candidates May Spend More Now To Win Elections

Albany, April 3 (AP)—From now on, political candidates may spend twice as much for their campaigns, which have been growing more expensive because of inflation and television electioneering.

Gov. Dewey signed the legislation yesterday. It boosts the legal maximum for gubernatorial candidates to $20,000, and that for nominess for lieutenant governor, comptroller and attorney general to $12,000.

The new limit for congressional candidates is $8,000; for state Senate, $4,000 and for the Assembly, $2,000.

The governor vetoed a measure that would have required all motor vehicles registered in the state to be equipped with directional signals by Jan. 1, 1954. Under terms of present law, all new vehicles must be equipped with the signals.

In his veto memorandum, Dewey again urged eventual adoption of a system of compulsory automobile inspections. The 1953 Legislature refused to approve such a plan.

The governor said inspections "would enable us to enforce the laws governing equipment of motor vehicles and to protect our motorists and pedestrians from becoming the victim of death traps on wheels."

Other Measures

The governor approved measures that:

Permit a person to apply by mail for an absentee ballot if his business commitments require him to be away from his home county on Election Day. Previously, a person had to apply in person.

Authorize paid deputy sheriffs and county fire co-ordinators to use a gong or siren on their vehicles while on duty.

Permit the salary of an elective county officer to be raised once after he had served three years of a term. (Assemblyman John J. Burns, R-Nassau).

Appropriate $100,000 to continue to Feb. 15, 1954, the 15-member temporary commission studying emergency and long-range needs for public school buildings.

Suit Against Actress Settled for $35,000

New York, April 3 (AP)—A $100,000 damage suit against actress Carol Bruce involving the death of a man in a Pennsylvania automobile accident has been settled for $35,000.

Announcement of the settlement was made yesterday by Attorney Bernard Robert Lauren on behalf of Mrs. Annabelle E. Fehnel, of Nazareth, Pa., widow of the victim.

The attorney agreement ending the suit was filed in State Supreme Court.

Sherwood Paul Fehnel was killed July 11, 1951, near the Mahoning Valley Country Club, Mantzville, Pa. Mrs. Fehnel charged that a car driven by Miss Bruce forced a trailer truck driven by her husband off the road.

A coroner's jury subsequently cleared Miss Bruce, who then was appearing in a summer theatre production of "Pal Joey."

Miss Bruce currently is doing television work in New York.

The Cross

No hill so lonely could ever be,
Than that on which Jesus died for me.
No cross so crude, no pain so great,
Than that on which Jesus paid my fate.

No life so great, no face so kind,
Than Jesus left the world behind.
Clouds o'ershadowed Golgotha's Hill,
When God the Father had His will.

Many returned from Calvary's Road,
With saddened hearts and a burdensome load,
For there a Saviour was left to die,
As the sinner mocked with a scornful cry.

The lonely Mother with aides to guide,
Returned from the Cross where her Son had died,
Died that the world should all be made free,
Died to bring pardon to you and me.

How can we ever to Him repay?
For the Life which was, the Truth and the Way.
Now with glad hearts all men may sing,
Jesus is Risen, Christ is King.

Check Radioactivity

New York, April 3 (AP)—Weather Bureau stations across the country daily set up "flypaper" apparatus to trap and measure electorically radioactive dust from the Nevada atomic blasts. However, the New York Office of the Atomic Energy Commission said yesterday, the increase of radioactivity in the air after a nuclear blast is small and not dangerous. An AEC spokesman said the readings also serve to gather still more knowledge on the patterns of dust distribution. The daily radioactivity map, he added, shows that the movement of dust clouds is west to east.

BABSON on BUSINESS

New York City, April 2—The taking off of price controls has caused some prices to advance; but most prices have remained constant or have decreased. I am convinced that free competition, which now is being tried, will ultimately reduce the cost of foods.

There will be a lag between the wholesale price drop and the retail prices. In Florida I own a cattle ranch. Steers which sold on the hoof at 30 cents a pound two years ago now sell for 10 cents. Cows which then sold at $200 can be bought for $60.

Readers wonder why the retail price of beef is still high. The answer is that the beef now in the stores for sale was purchased by the packers at high prices. We must wait until this high-priced beef is eaten before the retail price will drop further. This may take four to six months. The same principle applies to many foods.

Advice About Home Freezers

Deep freezers are good for the home and good for the nation as a whole. These, however, should be filled intelligently. To get the most from buying in quantity, the family should give real study to seasons, crop reports, and other factors. The first verse of the third chapter of the Bible Book of Ecclesiastes gives good advice to those who buy food for storing.

We should buy in quantity when beef, fruit, vegetables, etc. are cheap; but we should also consider quality as well as price. It is wise perhaps to buy some meats now; but wait before storing beef.

Political Aspects

While such lower food prices please city dwellers, falling prices cause much grief to millions of rural families. Cattlemen are now taking big losses. City folk laugh about the dairy mess and similar mistakes, but they all have a sad human side of grief, loss and disappointment. Let us be sympathetic with all unfortunate rural people.

President Eisenhower is getting thousands of letters every day from honest, hard-working farmers who are being "ruined." This probably accounts for his urging Secretary Benson to "go slowly." Otherwise, he may fear that the Republicans will lose control of Congress in 1954. Customs which have existed for twenty years cannot be corrected quickly. The same principle involves tariff changes.

Radio Market News

Radio news of wholesale farm prices is good for the farmers, fruit growers and others; but such news does not help the housewife much. Hence, newspapers could help consumers to interpret properly the valuable food advertisements in their papers by reporting weekly the amount of fresh, canned and frozed food products on the market.

Every housewife should carefully read all advertisements, especially the ads of the reliable super-markets. How to study local advertisements is a work which Women's Clubs could take up.

Farmers Need Self-Control

Don't blame salesmen of fertilizers, seeds, farm machinery and real estate for urging farmers to produce more. Yet, the fact that some farmers have not the good sense and self-control to properly weigh such sales talks is one reason for their troubles today. It might be a good idea this year to devote the State Agricultural Fairs to teaching farmers some simple economic truths.

Neither farmers nor consumers can depend upon most politicians for honest advice. This applies especially to the promoters of certain unneeded irrigation projects. Farmers could get into the same box in 1954 that Wall Street speculators got into in 1929, because every farmer is forced to speculate on weather and other unpredictable factors. Another thought. Buy things from your local stores and, if possible, buy home-made products. If farm organizations would teach sane economics, there need be no more "Butter Scandals" and the entire dairy, industry would ultimately benefit.

Official Says Act Won't Bar Alleged Pro-Nazi

New York, April 3 (AP)—An immigration official says Walter Gieseking, German pianist who canceled his 1949 recital here following questioning and demonstrations involving alleged pro-Nazism, has become "not excludable" under the McCarran Act.

As a result, the pianist is scheduled to make his first U. S. appearance in 15 years at Carnegie Hall on April 22.

The immigration official, P. A. Esperding, said yesterday that sympathy with or membership in the Nazi party no longer constituted a basis for exclusion from this country.

The McCarran Act, Esperding said, is aimed at excluding members of any totalitarian party, which, at present, means Communists.

Gieseking now is in Japan on concert tour.

The aboriginal inhabitants of Formosa practiced head-hunting until a few years ago.

Korean Truce Is Concern of Firms And Customers

By T. E. APPLEGATE
(For SAM DAWSON)

New York, April 3 (AP)—Businessmen wish today they knew how a Korean truce would affect their daily lives.

They are not alone. Their customers would like to know; so would the government.

In all three cases, search for the answer goes far beyond the obvious query as to the next move in Russia's "peace offensive."

At first glance, many business leaders see no reason to lose their confidence in a lively and rising civilian demand strong enough in itself to support a healthy economy.

But they still would like to know if the government will cut down on defense spending and ease the tax bite on profits; also if customers will continue to buy in volume at present prices.

Consumers wonder if jobs will stay plentiful and if prices will decline or hold steady.

Government officials are interested in whether business will go ahead with plans to spend 27 billion dollars this year on new plants and equipment, and whether corporate and personal income tax cuts would stimulate enough spending to prevent any serious drop in sales volume, if a business setback occurred.

Opinions Vary

Opinions on these questions vary; the actual picture will become clear only on day-to-day developments.

Among those disclaiming any intent to trim expansion plans is Gwilym A. Price, president of Westington Electric Corp. He says his company's 300 million-dollar expansion program "is geared to peacetime growth and, in the long run, should not be affected by possible changes in the defense production requirement."

Belief is widespread that Korean peace would increase pressure in Washington for a balanced budget and tax reduction, to be accomplished by further "stretch-out" of spending for armament.

The administration even before the truce move was looking for ways to cut military expenditures if it could be done without hurting the combat situation. However, many contracts are in long-range development programs (such as applications of atomic energy) for which no cutback appears probable. And an end to the Korean fighting could mean a step-up in arms shipments to other trouble spots.

Many Demands for Goods

Some analysts feel the importance of defense spending as a support to the nation's economy has been over-emphasized.

General Motors delivered defense items totaling about 20 per cent of its sales last year. But in its annual report it describes such work as "considerably less attractive" than commercial business, from the standpoint of shareholder's return.

It adds that when "defense needs become less acute, it is our belief that industry's wheels will continue to turn at a satisfactory rate. There are all kinds of customer needs to satisfy."

The new peace moves failed yesterday to dampen investor interest in Allied Chemical & Dye Corp's 200 million dollar bond issue—the largest ever offered by an industrial company. It sold out quickly.

This display of confidence coincided with a recovery move in the stock market where jittery traders Monday and Tuesday unloaded shares at lower prices.

The comeback was encouraging to those who look for business to prove it is not "afraid of peace."

Candidates May Spend More Now To Win Elections

Albany, April 3 (AP)—From now on, political candidates may spend twice as much for their campaigns, which have been growing more expensive because of inflation and television electioneering.

Gov. Dewey signed the legislation yesterday. It boosts the legal maximum for gubernatorial candidates to $20,000, and that for nominess for lieutenant governor, comptroller and attorney general to $12,000.

The new limit for congressional candidates is $8,000; for state Senate, $4,000 and for the Assembly, $2,000.

The governor vetoed a measure that would have required all motor vehicles registered in the state to be equipped with directional signals by Jan. 1, 1954. Under terms of present law, all new vehicles must be equipped with the signals.

In his veto memorandum, Dewey again urged eventual adoption of a system of compulsory automobile inspections. The 1953 Legislature refused to approve such a plan.

The governor said inspections "would enable us to enforce the laws governing equipment of motor vehicles and to protect our motorists and pedestrians from becoming the victim of death traps on wheels."

Other Measures

The governor approved measures that:

Permit a person to apply by mail for an absentee ballot if his business commitments require him to be away from his home county on Election Day. Previously, a person had to apply in person.

Authorize paid deputy sheriffs and county fire co-ordinators to use a gong or siren on their vehicles while on duty.

Permit the salary of an elective county officer to be raised once after he had served three years of a term. (Assemblyman John J. Burns, R-Nassau).

Appropriate $100,000 to continue to Feb. 15, 1954, the 15-member temporary commission studying emergency and long-range needs for public school buildings.

Suit Against Actress Settled for $35,000

New York, April 3 (AP)—A $100,000 damage suit against actress Carol Bruce involving the death of a man in a Pennsylvania automobile accident has been settled for $35,000.

Announcement of the settlement was made yesterday by Attorney Bernard Robert Lauren on behalf of Mrs. Annabelle E. Fehnel, of Nazareth, Pa., widow of the victim.

The attorney agreement ending the suit was filed in State Supreme Court.

Sherwood Paul Fehnel was killed July 11, 1951, near the Mahoning Valley Country Club, Mantzville, Pa. Mrs. Fehnel charged that a car driven by Miss Bruce forced a trailer truck driven by her husband off the road.

A coroner's jury subsequently cleared Miss Bruce, who then was appearing in a summer theatre production of "Pal Joey."

Miss Bruce currently is doing television work in New York.

The Cross

No hill so lonely could ever be,
Than that on which Jesus died for me.
No cross so crude, no pain so great,
Than that on which Jesus paid my fate.

No life so great, no face so kind,
Than Jesus left the world behind.
Clouds o'ershadowed Golgotha's Hill,
When God the Father had His will.

Many returned from Calvary's Road,
With saddened hearts and a burdensome load,
For there a Saviour was left to die,
As the sinner mocked with a scornful cry.

The lonely Mother with aides to guide,
Returned from the Cross where her Son had died,
Died that the world should all be made free,
Died to bring pardon to you and me.

How can we ever to Him repay?
For the Life which was, the Truth and the Way.
Now with glad hearts all men may sing,
Jesus is Risen, Christ is King.

Check Radioactivity

New York, April 3 (AP)—Weather Bureau stations across the country daily set up "flypaper" apparatus to trap and measure electorically radioactive dust from the Nevada atomic blasts. However, the New York Office of the Atomic Energy Commission said yesterday, the increase of radioactivity in the air after a nuclear blast is small and not dangerous. An AEC spokesman said the readings also serve to gather still more knowledge on the patterns of dust distribution. The daily radioactivity map, he added, shows that the movement of dust clouds is west to east.

Firm Faces Trouble Over 20-Cent Wage

New York, April 3 (AP)—The federal government got an injunction against a stamp firm on charges that three of its contractors hired soldiers' wives for as little as 20 cents an hour.

The injunction freezes $20,000 worth of stamps owned by the Grossman Stamp Co. until the Labor Department complaint is heard.

The department accused three contractors for Grossman of hiring women to package stamps in their homes at less than the federal minimum wage of 75 cents. The stamps later were sold by the Grossman firm in dime stores. The firm is acused of shipping illegally produced goods in Interstate Commerce.

The contractors were identified in the complaint as Sidney Maranov of (18 Marvin avenue) Rockville Centre, N. Y.; Roland Hazard of New Hyde Park, N. Y., and Irma Ginsburg of Brooklyn.

The government said about 30 women were employed by the contractors, 20 of them wives of servicemen stationed at Mitchel Field, Long Island.

See the holes in Daddy's shoes?
Got 'em shuffling up and down cellar stairs all winter furnace tending!
See Daddy's beat-up clothes?
See the bloodstain on Daddy's knee?
Poker got him there!
And you can't see the doctor's bill of $38.75

Feel sorry for Daddy?
Well, don't!

All Daddy has to do
(If he has the strength)
is to crawl to a phone and call
any local dealer who sells and installs

The folks on the other end will be delighted.
to give him the low-down on low cost, clean,

And he isn't feeling very funny
See the holes in Daddy's shoes?
Got 'em shuffling up and down cellar stairs all winter furnace tending!
See Daddy's beat-up clothes?
See the bloodstain on Daddy's knee?
Poker got him there!
And you can't see the doctor's bill of $38.75
for fixing Daddy's back caused by lifting ashcans . . .
. . . or the dust and dirt all over Mommy's house.
Feel sorry for Daddy?
Well, don't!

All Daddy has to do
(If he has the strength)
is to crawl to a phone and call
any local dealer who sells and installs
AUTOMATIC NATURAL GAS HOUSE HEATING EQUIPMENT
. . . or call Central Hudson.
The folks on the other end will be delighted.
to give him the low-down on low cost, clean,
work-free, carefree gas heating . . .

Either way, come next winter
Daddy'll be a new man!

Rooster-Pecked Wives Lead Henpecked Males Says Salon Authority

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Contrary to popular belief, says a beauty salon authority, there are few henpecked husbands in America, but "rooster-pecked" wives are legion.

Wife Eager to Please

It's the wife who works herself into a state of nerves every time she gets a new hat or a new hairdo, worrying for fear her husband won't like it. The average U. S. wife is eager to please her spouse, and terrified of his criticism, says D. J. Brown, who has spent most of his adult life observing women in the intimate atmosphere of the beauty salon. Famous beauties of stage and screen frequent his plus new glamor factory on New York's "chic street", East 56th.

"I've seen brilliant and beautiful women go all to pieces over the idea of cutting their hair," he says "because they're afraid of what their husbands or sweethearts will say. Their good sense tells them they will look younger and more attractive with a different hair style, but their hearts start palpitating over the possible effect on Tom, Dick or Harry.

Has to Be Convinced

"A favorite remark of women is, 'My husband loves long hair.' This usually is a fallacy. Men think they like long hair because it seems the thing to do. Actually, they merely want their wives or girl friends to look beautiful, so they can be proud of them. Long hair has a romantic sound, but it is not flattering to all women. If a man can be shown that his wife will look prettier with short hair, he probably won't object. But he has to be convinced."

It is for this reason that D. J. urges his customers to bring their husbands along when they contemplate a new hair style or color. He explains:

Take Husbands Along

"I honestly believe that if women made it a practice to bring their husbands along to help them decide on a new hairdo or a new hat, the divorce rate would go down in America."

D.J. claims that once the husband is inside the salon, the battle is half won. He recalls:

"Once an irate husband threatened to kill me because I had cut his wife's hair. He was an aging European nobleman, his wife was beautiful and much younger. When I called his bluff, and told him he simply didn't want his wife to look young, he admitted it and apologized. And when everyone admired the wife in her new flattering hairdo, he beamed with pride."

This hairdresser, who looks more like a husky sportsman and big business man, believes women should change the style and color of their hair as often as they like, with no psychological qualms. He says:

"Usually women are too timid about change. They should look at themselves honestly, and admit it if nature has made a mistake. If a woman was born a brunette but would look better as a blonde, there's no sensible reason why she shouldn't be a blonde.

Women Need Change

"This is the age of change—and every woman needs to change her appearance now and then. It keeps life from growing dull—and it keeps husbands and boyfriends interested, whether they admit it or not."

Actually, they merely want their wives or girl friends to look beautiful, so they can be proud of them. Long hair has a romantic sound, but it is not flattering to all women. If a man can be shown that his wife will look prettier with short hair, he probably won't object. But he has to be convinced."

It is for this reason that D. J. urges his customers to bring their husbands along when they contemplate a new hair style or color. He explains:

Take Husbands Along

"I honestly believe that if women made it a practice to bring their husbands along to help them decide on a new hairdo or a new hat, the divorce rate would go down in America."

D.J. claims that once the husband is inside the salon, the battle is half won. He recalls:

"Once an irate husband threatened to kill me because I had cut his wife's hair. He was an aging European nobleman, his wife was beautiful and much younger. When I called his bluff, and told him he simply didn't want his wife to look young, he admitted it and apologized. And when everyone admired the wife in her new flattering hairdo, he beamed with pride."

This hairdresser, who looks more like a husky sportsman and big business man, believes women should change the style and color of their hair as often as they like, with no psychological qualms. He says:

"Usually women are too timid about change. They should look at themselves honestly, and admit it if nature has made a mistake. If a woman was born a brunette but would look better as a blonde, there's no sensible reason why she shouldn't be a blonde.

Women Need Change

"This is the age of change—and every woman needs to change her appearance now and then. It keeps life from growing dull—and it keeps husbands and boyfriends interested, whether they admit it or not."

Don't blame me for the bidding of today's hand. I don't recommend North's second bid, but that's the bid he actually made.

The hand took place in a team match in England, and the North player couldn't think of a good rebid at his second turn. He chose to rebid his clubs, and South, logically enough, went to game in no-trump.

West opened the queen of diamonds, holding the trick, and continued with the jack of diamonds. East dared not cover with the king, for then South would be able to win two tricks with his ace and ten. South could therefore hold up his ace of diamonds a second time and thus compel West to shift to a new suit.

West shifted to the jack of clubs, and South won in his own hand with the ace. He led a heart and played the king from dummy to force out East's ace. East returned a diamond to declarer's ace. West discarded a low club.

South led another heart towards dummy, and West discarded a low spade. This discard told declarer nearly everything he needed to know.

West had showed up with only two diamonds and only one heart, consequently had ten black cards in his hand. If these had been divided 6-4, West would have made two discards from his six-card suit in order to keep protection in both black suits.

Since West had actually discarded one club and one spade, South concluded that West had started with five cards in each of the black suits.

Having arrived at this conclusion, South cashed the king and ace of spades, gratefully noting the fall of East's ten of spades. He then cashed dummy's king and queen of clubs, after which he put West in with the last club.

West then had to lead spades away from his jack up to South's queen-nine. This cleverly-executed endplay gave the English declarer his game contract.

Two Drown as Car Plunges Into Canal

Miami, Fla., April 3 (AP)—Two New York visitors drowned yesterday when they were trapped in their car after it sideswiped another auto and then plunged into the Tamiami Canal 13 miles west of Miami.

The Florida Highway Patrol identified the men as Simon Tasch, 56, and Solomon Levy, 58. Both were staying at a Miami Beach hotel (Victor) with their wives.

State Trooper G. B. Stafford said the New Yorker's car was going east on the trial when it swerved to the north side, hitting an auto driven by James McCreedy Simmons, 67, Miami, and then disappeared in 12 feet of water in the canal.

Simmons told the trooper he saw one of the New Yorkers, later identified as Tasch, swimming desperately toward the roots of a tree on the canal bank. Tasch sank from view about four feet short of his destination.

Levy's body was found trapped in the car and was pulled to the surface by Trooper Stafford, who said Levy must have been stunned by the impact. The car windows were open and Tasch apparently crawled out.

Divers recovered Tasch's body. Simmons, the driver of the other car, was not injured.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

It seems that back on November 3, 1894, application for renewal of the license of the Sleightsburgh ferry was under consideration before County Judge Clearwater. According to an item in a Leader of that date, when application was made for its renewal a petition was presented to the Court asking that certain conditions be imposed. There was quite a lively discussion a whole day in court as to how the "Skillypot" is run, and how it should be run. The conditions the passengers asked for were: That the ferry should be run from 5 a. m. until midnight, and that it make trips every 12 minutes. Hon. G. D. B. Hasbrouck appeared for the owners of the ferry, and C. F. Cantine represented the petitioners.

For instance, Abram Schryver, a Port Ewen merchant, testified that the Skillypot took some half an hour to make a trip. This made it difficult for him to service the people as he carried the mail and was often late due to the chain-ferry. Another merchant who also wasted some 20 minutes waiting for the Skillypot spoke. He wanted the ferry to run to midnight, also to start early in the morning. As it was, Mr. Schryver had to bring vegetables for his customers in a small boat early in the morning during the summer months. In speaking about the scow which used to run late at night after the ferry stopped running, the witnesses said it was leaky and dirty. On that account, Mr. Hasbrouck asked the witness, if they should run an electric launch, the witness replied, "No, but they ought to run something that don't leak. People would like to come to this city to church Sunday evenings but couldn't get back because the ferry stopped at 10." Mr. Hasbrouck suggested that church was out long before 10 p. m., and that most clergymen preached less than half an hour Sunday evenings. It seems that there was more talk on the good and bad service of the Skillypot. I know they must have received their license to run the ferryboat, for years later I remember riding on it.

No doubt many folks also remember that big scow that would run after the ferry stopped for the night. That really was a nightmare. It was a big open rowboat and usually so full of people that it sunk right down in the water, its top edge about an inch above the water line. There was always one rowdy on each trip somehow and he tried to be funny. Sometimes he had too much "firewater" inside of him and the passengers were not quite sure if they would get across the dark, dank water before being tipped over in it. The nights I went across with my father as a little girl, after he closed his store and missed the last ferry were cold and dark and the swish, swish of the oar and water seemed so sinister. My father hurried to close the store in time to make the last ferry, at I think midnight, when I was over in Kingston, but sometimes a customer would come in and make him miss it. I don't remember how we made the Sleightsburgh hill to my grandmother's in Port Ewen. As a rule during the day, Rodman's had a rig which we could hire, but I don't remember it coming out at night.

GOOD TASTE TODAY

(Author of Etiquette, 'Children Are People,' etc.)

SAYING 'NO' TO A CHRONIC BORROWER

The writer of the following letter asks my help in solving this very annoying situation: "I work in an office where the employees are permitted to smoke at their desks. One of the men who works alongside of me is forever borrowing cigarettes from me. He is always running out of them (as he tells me). At first I didn't mind this, but now it has become a regular practice and I am getting fed up with it. He is a very likable person and I don't want to do anything to hurt his feelings."

The only suggestion I have to offer is that you take the exact number of cigarettes you set aside for your daily consumption and tell him that you purposely take no extra because you don't want to smoke any more than the certain number to which you are limiting yourself.

Acknowledging Wedding Invitation

Dear Mrs. Post: I live in the east and have just received an invitation to the wedding of a relative taking place on the West Coast. Of course, they know it will be impossible for me to go and it was undoubtedly sent in courtesy. However, the invitation has R.S.V.P. on it and I am wondering whether it has to be acknowledged any way?

Answer: Because of the distance, it might not be necessary to acknowledge it; although it certainly would be courteous to write a note to the bride if you know her at all well, regretting your inability to be present and sending her your best wishes—or possibly a present.

Farewell Party for Neophite

Dear Mrs. Post: Could it be considered unsuitable to have a farewell party for my brother who is joining a religious order and leaving home. Someone has questioned the propriety of this because of the religious angle.

Answer: I can't imagine how anyone could consider a simple and dignified gathering of relatives and friends unsuitable. It might otherwise be impossible for him to see them before he leaves.

How shall I write a note of acceptance? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but model notes for invitations and their acceptance, as well as other notes, are described in leaflet E-21. Stereotypers Are Back at Syracuse

Syracuse, April 3—News-hungry Syracusans were appeased today as their two daily newspapers operated normally after a two-day strike of AFL stereotypers.

The 27 employes yesterday accepted a retroactive pay package and a $5 weekly raise that brought their base scale to $96, and voted to return to the afternoon Herald-Journal and the morning Post-Standard.

Readers had fared on slim editions and beefed-up radio and television news broadcasts since the walkout began Tuesday.

The Herald-Journal did not publish during the strike, but the Post-Standard printed limited 16-page editions both days.

Dealers said copies were sold quickly and that out-of-town papers were snapped up as soon as they appeared. One said he was sold out of a New York city newspaper "within about two minutes."

The union did not disclose its original demands. But publisher Richard Amberg of the Post-Standard said the men asked for $9 a week. He said the raise accepted was the papers' original offer.

Both dailies are owned by Samuel I. Newhouse of New York city.

Two Critically Injured In Train, Truck Mishap

Hillburn, April 3 (AP)—A freight train, backing into a siding on the main line of the Erie Railroad, struck a milk truck at 2:55 a. m. today and two men were critically injured.

Charley Healy, 55, of Port Jervis, a brakeman who was on a ladder of the rear car, lost both legs above the knees. He also suffered a broken arm.

Arthur Cole, 40, of Suffern, driver of the truck, suffered a broken back and pelvis and internal hemorrhages.

Both men were taken to Good Samaritan Hospital at Suffern.

The truck is owned by Rice Brothers, of Suffern.

The conditions the passengers asked for were: That the ferry should be run from 5 a. m. until midnight, and that it make trips every 12 minutes. Hon. G. D. B. Hasbrouck appeared for the owners of the ferry, and C. F. Cantine represented the petitioners.

For instance, Abram Schryver, a Port Ewen merchant, testified that the Skillypot took some half an hour to make a trip. This made it difficult for him to service the people as he carried the mail and was often late due to the chain-ferry. Another merchant who also wasted some 20 minutes waiting for the Skillypot spoke. He wanted the ferry to run to midnight, also to start early in the morning. As it was, Mr. Schryver had to bring vegetables for his customers in a small boat early in the morning during the summer months. In speaking about the scow which used to run late at night after the ferry stopped running, the witnesses said it was leaky and dirty. On that account, Mr. Hasbrouck asked the witness, if they should run an electric launch, the witness replied, "No, but they ought to run something that don't leak. People would like to come to this city to church Sunday evenings but couldn't get back because the ferry stopped at 10." Mr. Hasbrouck suggested that church was out long before 10 p. m., and that most clergymen preached less than half an hour Sunday evenings. It seems that there was more talk on the good and bad service of the Skillypot. I know they must have received their license to run the ferryboat, for years later I remember riding on it.

No doubt many folks also remember that big scow that would run after the ferry stopped for the night. That really was a nightmare. It was a big open rowboat and usually so full of people that it sunk right down in the water, its top edge about an inch above the water line. There was always one rowdy on each trip somehow and he tried to be funny. Sometimes he had too much "firewater" inside of him and the passengers were not quite sure if they would get across the dark, dank water before being tipped over in it. The nights I went across with my father as a little girl, after he closed his store and missed the last ferry were cold and dark and the swish, swish of the oar and water seemed so sinister. My father hurried to close the store in time to make the last ferry, at I think midnight, when I was over in Kingston, but sometimes a customer would come in and make him miss it. I don't remember how we made the Sleightsburgh hill to my grandmother's in Port Ewen. As a rule during the day, Rodman's had a rig which we could hire, but I don't remember it coming out at night.

GOOD TASTE TODAY

The writer of the following letter asks my help in solving this very annoying situation: "I work in an office where the employes are permitted to smoke at their desks. One of the men who works alongside of me is forever borrowing cigarettes from me. He is always running out of them (as he tells me). At first I didn't mind this, but now it has become a regular practice and I am getting fed up with it. He is a very likable person and I don't want to do anything to hurt his feelings."

The only suggestion I have to offer is that you take the exact number of cigarettes you set aside for your daily consumption and tell him that you purposely take no extra because you don't want to smoke any more than the certain number to which you are limiting yourself.

Acknowledging Wedding Invitation

Dear Mrs. Post: I live in the east and have just received an invitation to the wedding of a relative taking place on the West Coast. Of course, they know it will be impossible for me to go and it was undoubtedly sent in courtesy. However, the invitation has R.S.V.P. on it and I am wondering whether it has to be acknowledged any way?

Answer: Because of the distance, it might not be necessary to acknowledge it; although it certainly would be courteous to write a note to the bride if you know her at all well, regretting your inability to be present and sending her your best wishes—or possibly a present.

Farewell Party for Neophite

Dear Mrs. Post: Could it be considered unsuitable to have a farewell party for my brother who is joining a religious order and leaving home. Someone has questioned the propriety of this because of the religious angle.

Answer: I can't imagine how anyone could consider a simple and dignified gathering of relatives and friends unsuitable. It might otherwise be impossible for him to see them before he leaves.

How shall I write a note of acceptance? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but model notes for invitations and their acceptance, as well as other notes, are described in leaflet E-21. Stereotypers Are Back at Syracuse

Syracuse, April 3—News-hungry Syracusans were appeased today as their two daily newspapers operated normally after a two-day strike of AFL stereotypers.

The 27 employes yesterday accepted a retroactive pay package and a $5 weekly raise that brought their base scale to $96, and voted to return to the afternoon Herald-Journal and the morning Post-Standard.

Readers had fared on slim editions and beefed-up radio and television news broadcasts since the walkout began Tuesday.

The Herald-Journal did not publish during the strike, but the Post-Standard printed limited 16-page editions both days.

Dealers said copies were sold quickly and that out-of-town papers were snapped up as soon as they appeared. One said he was sold out of a New York city newspaper "within about two minutes."

The union did not disclose its original demands. But publisher Richard Amberg of the Post-Standard said the men asked for $9 a week. He said the raise accepted was the papers' original offer.

Both dailies are owned by Samuel I. Newhouse of New York city.

Two Critically Injured In Train, Truck Mishap

Both men were taken to Good Samaritan Hospital at Suffern.

The truck is owned by Rice Brothers, of Suffern.

LL Association Accepts Responsibility for Second League

Will Be Known as National Division; Hasbrouck Named League Director

Officers and directors of the Kingston Little League Association last night voted to accept the responsibility of organizing and promoting a second Little League in Kingston this season.

The affirmative action was taken at a lengthy session at the Hotel Stuyvesant and John Hasbrouck was designated as director for both divisions of the league.

The present division, operating in upper section of the city, will be known as the American Division.

The four-team league to be operated south of a designated boundary will be known as the National Division. It will be manged and operated by interested baseball personalities from the downtown area.

DeCicco Assistant

Supervisor James DeCicco of the 4th Ward has been designated assistant to the director for the National Division, which will be a four-team circuit.

In outlining the proposed action to the officers and executive board of the Little League Association, president Paul C. Gardner said the recent Williamsport directive put the LL Association squarely on the spot.

"We find ourselves in a position of either organizing a second league or relinquishing our present franchise," he said. "Either eventuality would be disastrous and would nullify long years of work by the Kingston Athletic Association and now the Little League Association.

"I am recommending to you gentlemen that the Little League Association accept the responsibility of setting up the second division and soliciting the necessary funds to set it up."

A unanimous motion to accept the president's recommendation followed.

Boundaries Approved

The executive board examined a large scale city map and concurred in the opinion that the line of demarcation as proposed would be fair and equitable. Small fry on both sides would be given an equal chance for the various teams and from a standpoint of travel and accessibility the new plan was described as the best possible setup.

The location of the playing field in the downtown area awaits a meeting of Little League Association officials and Mayor Newkirk.

Although he assailed the now famous Williamsport directive in a recent letter, Mayor Newkirk has pledged the full resources of the city in the organization and promotion of a division that would enable youngsters from the downtown section to take part in the Little League program.

Lakers Beat Pistons; Meet Knickerbockers In NBA Playoff

Minneapolis, April 3 (AP)—The same two teams that fought it out for the National Basketball Association championship last year — The Minneapolis Lakers and the New York Knickerbockers—go at it again starting here tomorrow night.

In 1952, the Lakers, led by George Mikan, finally won over the Knicks in seven games, and this year they'll probably rule favorites again.

The first two games of the best-of-seven series will be played here tomorrow and Sunday. On Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday, the two teams will play in New York. If the final two games are needed, they will be played here on April 12 and 15.

The Knicks, who have been hampered by injuries all season, won the Eastern Division crown by defeating the Boston Celtics, 3-1, in their best-of-five semi-final series. Joe Lapchick's New Yorkers wrapped it up when they took their first victory of the season in Boston last Sunday.

The Lakers had their troubles with the Fort Wayne Pistons and didn't take the title until the rubber contest of the five-game series last night, 74-58. Before that, the Pistons threw a scare into Mikan and Co. by playing them on even terms.

But in the finale, the Lakers left no doubt as to their intentions and roared to a 23-8 advantage in the first 10 minutes. The Pistons never came closer than eight points after that.

Wings Rebound To Stay Alive

Detroit, April 3 (AP)—Playing against the Detroit Red Wings is like fighting a bull—you're in good shape until they get mad.

That's what happened last night when the Wings, wearing red and seeing red, cut down the Boston Bruins, 6-4, to stay alive in their Stanley Cup Hockey series.

The Bruins still lead the best-of-seven, semi-final series, three games to two, but now they're confronted with an enraged Detroit team.

In the first four games, three of which were won by Boston, the Wings played a rather complacent brand of hockey.

But the Red Wings came out for last night's game with fire in their eyes. Within three minutes and 45 seconds, they scored three goals to all but sew up the game.

The Black Hawks now are favored to win the set because the next game is on their home ice tomorrow night.

Trotters Toppled

Hershey, Pa., April 3 (AP)—The famed Harlem Globetrotters had no chance to pull their usual antics last night as the College All-Stars defeated them 100-91 in a basketball exhibition. The All-Stars became the first team in history to score 100 points against the famed Negro players.

Rocky's Nose Bleed Postpones Title Bout; Slow Tix Sale Might Have Caused It, Too

Chicago, April 3 (AP)—Seldom has a nose bleed caused so much confusion as Rocky Marciano's.

It has forced a five weeks postponement of the champion's heavyweight title fight with Jersey Joe Walcott. The scrap, all set for April 10, has been delayed until May 15.

It will be at the same place, Chicago Stadium; have the same television sponsor, a razor blade company; be on the same night of the week, Friday; and undoubtedly have more $50 customers in the bag for the original scale of 12,000 seats at that price.

With a week of ticket sales remaining before the scheduled April 10 date, the sponsoring International Boxing Club said $191,205 was in the till with $123,250 in mail and season reservations still to be picked up.

This left $435,545 worth of tickets yet to be sold before an anticipated $750,000 gross could be realized. Another $250,000 or $300,000 from television and film rights would give the IBC its ballyhooed "million dollar gate" for this second meeting of the two fighters.

IBC Requests Change

The IBC, admitting the sale of its $50 seats was slow, requested the Illinois Athletic Commission to postpone the bout yesterday because of Marciano's bloody nose.

Rocky, apparently, had been having nose trouble at his Holland, Mich., training camp ever since he was clouted on it Sunday by sparmate Tommy Harrison. It bled then and again during workouts Tuesday.

He wore protective gear in his workouts on Wednesday. That same day, a delegation of the Illinois Commission examined Marciano and reported he was in fine shape.

Later that day a nose specialist from Holland was consulted and examined Rocky. It turned out the champion had two ruptured small blood vessels.

Weill Fearful

"If the fighter had gone into the ring in that condition," said Commission member Lou Radzienda, "he wouldn't be worth two cents and a blow might even have ended his career."

It all brought a shudder to Al Weill Rocky's manager who recalled what happened once to one of his other fighters, Marty Servo. Servo was never able to defend the welterweight title he won from Freddie Cochrane because of a nose injury in a bout with Rocky Graziano.

"I've got another champion now and I can't afford to take a chance," said Weill. "He'll lay off training for two weeks."

Marciano said "of course, I'm disappointed. It's too bad this happened. But the delay won't make any difference to me."

Walcott commented: "We'll all pack up and resume training at Pleasantville (N.J.)" (Walcott was hustled to Chicago last Monday to help perk up ticket sales.)

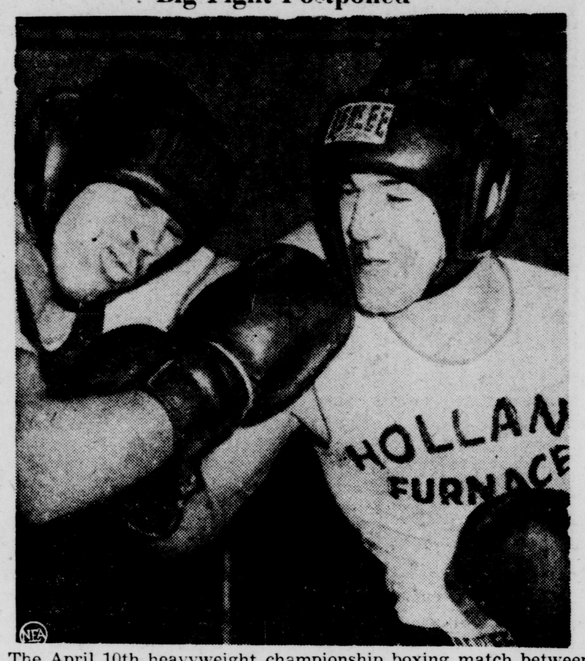
Giants Improved

Lubbock, Tex., April 3 (AP)—Two of the New York Giants' hospital cases are showing great improvement. Bobby Thomson appeared in the lineup yesterday for the first time since his right hand was fractured by a pitched ball March 15. He pinch hit for Al Corwin and fouled out. Catcher Sal Yvars also was in uniform yesterday for the first time in a week. He sprained an ankle sliding in a game in Arizona.

Big Fight Postponed



The April 10th heavyweight championship boxing match between Champion Rocky Marciano and contender Jersey Joe Walcott has been postponed until sometime in May. Marciano (right), nose bleeding, is shown sparring with one of his training partners in Chicago. It was a nose injury during training that caused his request to have the bout postponed. (NEA Telephoto)

Unknowns Share Azalea Open Lead

Wilmington, N. C., April 3 (AP)—Tommy Bolt, the year's No. 3 money winner of professional golf, and three comparative strangers to the payoff window held the spotlight going into today's second round of the $10,000 Azalea Open tournament.

Bolt, the Oklahoma-Texas pro who now registers out of Maplewood, N. J., came through on schedule with a six under par 66 in yesterday's opening round.

But the big news was the way three unheralded performers came through. Mike Souchak, who was graduated from Duke University last spring after starring as a football end and a member of the Duke golf team, matched Bolt's 33-33 card.

He and Bolt were only one stroke ahead of two other surprise performers—Wally Ulrich of Austin, Minn., and Fred Wampler of Indianapolis, the 1950 National Intercollegiate Champion.

Locked at 68, two strokes off the top end, were Cary Middlecoff, Memphis, the No. 2 money winner of the year; Johnny Palmer, Charlotte, and John Ruebi, the Greenskeeper at the host Cape Fear Country Club.

Bucceroni 11-5 Over Dave Davey

New York, April 3 (AP)—Stringy Danny Bucceroni of Philadelphia is an 11 to 5 favorite to repeat his triumph over Husky Dave Davey of Seattle in the feature ten rounder at St. Nicholas Arena tonight. The 10 p. m. (EST) bout will be broadcast (ABC) and telecast (NBC).

Bucceroni has moved into the No. 8 ranking among the heavyweights. His record is 40-3 with 27 knockouts. He has been stopped only by Irish Bob Murphy, in 1951.

Davey, who had a 16-fight winning streak snapped by Bucceroni has thinned down to around 203 pounds.

Out of action for two years, Davey has had only 25 pro fights. He resumed boxing in 1951 and his record is 23-2 with seven kayos. He never has been stopped.

LL Association Accepts Responsibility for Second League

Will Be Known as National Division; Hasbrouck Named League Director

Officers and directors of the Kingston Little League Association last night voted to accept the responsibility of organizing and promoting a second Little League in Kingston this season.

The affirmative action was taken at a lengthy session at the Hotel Stuyvesant and John Hasbrouck was designated as director for both divisions of the league.

The present division, operating in upper section of the city, will be known as the American Division.

The four-team league to be operated south of a designated boundary will be known as the National Division. It will be manged and operated by interested baseball personalities from the downtown area.

DeCicco Assistant

Supervisor James DeCicco of the 4th Ward has been designated assistant to the director for the National Division, which will be a four-team circuit.

In outlining the proposed action to the officers and executive board of the Little League Association, president Paul C. Gardner said the recent Williamsport directive put the LL Association squarely on the spot.

"We find ourselves in a position of either organizing a second league or relinquishing our present franchise," he said. "Either eventuality would be disastrous and would nullify long years of work by the Kingston Athletic Association and now the Little League Association.

"I am recommending to you gentlemen that the Little League Association accept the responsibility of setting up the second division and soliciting the necessary funds to set it up."

A unanimous motion to accept the president's recommendation followed.

Boundaries Approved

The executive board examined a large scale city map and concurred in the opinion that the line of demarcation as proposed would be fair and equitable. Small fry on both sides would be given an equal chance for the various teams and from a standpoint of travel and accessibility the new plan was described as the best possible setup.

The location of the playing field in the downtown area awaits a meeting of Little League Association officials and Mayor Newkirk.

Although he assailed the now famous Williamsport directive in a recent letter, Mayor Newkirk has pledged the full resources of the city in the organization and promotion of a division that would enable youngsters from the downtown section to take part in the Little League program.

Lakers Beat Pistons; Meet Knickerbockers In NBA Playoff

Minneapolis, April 3 (AP)—The same two teams that fought it out for the National Basketball Association championship last year — The Minneapolis Lakers and the New York Knickerbockers—go at it again starting here tomorrow night.

In 1952, the Lakers, led by George Mikan, finally won over the Knicks in seven games, and this year they'll probably rule favorites again.

The first two games of the best-of-seven series will be played here tomorrow and Sunday. On Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday, the two teams will play in New York. If the final two games are needed, they will be played here on April 12 and 15.

The Knicks, who have been hampered by injuries all season, won the Eastern Division crown by defeating the Boston Celtics, 3-1, in their best-of-five semi-final series. Joe Lapchick's New Yorkers wrapped it up when they took their first victory of the season in Boston last Sunday.

The Lakers had their troubles with the Fort Wayne Pistons and didn't take the title until the rubber contest of the five-game series last night, 74-58. Before that, the Pistons threw a scare into Mikan and Co. by playing them on even terms.

But in the finale, the Lakers left no doubt as to their intentions and roared to a 23-8 advantage in the first 10 minutes. The Pistons never came closer than eight points after that.

Wings Rebound To Stay Alive

Detroit, April 3 (AP)—Playing against the Detroit Red Wings is like fighting a bull—you're in good shape until they get mad.

That's what happened last night when the Wings, wearing red and seeing red, cut down the Boston Bruins, 6-4, to stay alive in their Stanley Cup Hockey series.

The Bruins still lead the best-of-seven, semi-final series, three games to two, but now they're confronted with an enraged Detroit team.

In the first four games, three of which were won by Boston, the Wings played a rather complacent brand of hockey.

But the Red Wings came out for last night's game with fire in their eyes. Within three minutes and 45 seconds, they scored three goals to all but sew up the game.

The Black Hawks now are favored to win the set because the next game is on their home ice tomorrow night.

Trotters Toppled

Hershey, Pa., April 3 (AP)—The famed Harlem Globetrotters had no chance to pull their usual antics last night as the College All-Stars defeated them 100-91 in a basketball exhibition. The All-Stars became the first team in history to score 100 points against the famed Negro players.

Rocky's Nose Bleed Postpones Title Bout; Slow Tix Sale Might Have Caused It, Too

Chicago, April 3 (AP)—Seldom has a nose bleed caused so much confusion as Rocky Marciano's.

It has forced a five weeks postponement of the champion's heavyweight title fight with Jersey Joe Walcott. The scrap, all set for April 10, has been delayed until May 15.

It will be at the same place, Chicago Stadium; have the same television sponsor, a razor blade company; be on the same night of the week, Friday; and undoubtedly have more $50 customers in the bag for the original scale of 12,000 seats at that price.

With a week of ticket sales remaining before the scheduled April 10 date, the sponsoring International Boxing Club said $191,205 was in the till with $123,250 in mail and season reservations still to be picked up.

This left $435,545 worth of tickets yet to be sold before an anticipated $750,000 gross could be realized. Another $250,000 or $300,000 from television and film rights would give the IBC its ballyhooed "million dollar gate" for this second meeting of the two fighters.

IBC Requests Change

The IBC, admitting the sale of its $50 seats was slow, requested the Illinois Athletic Commission to postpone the bout yesterday because of Marciano's bloody nose.

Rocky, apparently, had been having nose trouble at his Holland, Mich., training camp ever since he was clouted on it Sunday by sparmate Tommy Harrison. It bled then and again during workouts Tuesday.

He wore protective gear in his workouts on Wednesday. That same day, a delegation of the Illinois Commission examined Marciano and reported he was in fine shape.

Later that day a nose specialist from Holland was consulted and examined Rocky. It turned out the champion had two ruptured small blood vessels.

Weill Fearful

"If the fighter had gone into the ring in that condition," said Commission member Lou Radzienda, "he wouldn't be worth two cents and a blow might even have ended his career."

It all brought a shudder to Al Weill Rocky's manager who recalled what happened once to one of his other fighters, Marty Servo. Servo was never able to defend the welterweight title he won from Freddie Cochrane because of a nose injury in a bout with Rocky Graziano.

"I've got another champion now and I can't afford to take a chance," said Weill. "He'll lay off training for two weeks."

Marciano said "of course, I'm disappointed. It's too bad this happened. But the delay won't make any difference to me."

Walcott commented: "We'll all pack up and resume training at Pleasantville (N.J.)" (Walcott was hustled to Chicago last Monday to help perk up ticket sales.)

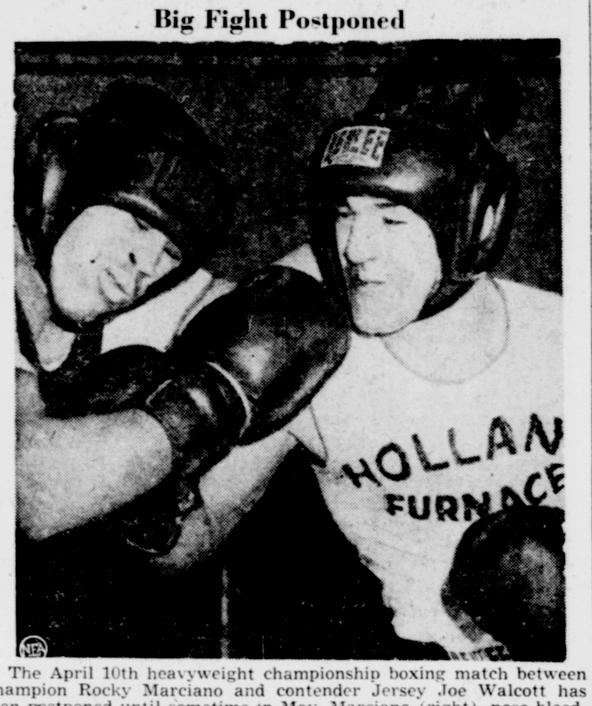
Giants Improved

Lubbock, Tex., April 3 (AP)—Two of the New York Giants' hospital cases are showing great improvement. Bobby Thomson appeared in the lineup yesterday for the first time since his right hand was fractured by a pitched ball March 15. He pinch hit for Al Corwin and fouled out. Catcher Sal Yvars also was in uniform yesterday for the first time in a week. He sprained an ankle sliding in a game in Arizona.

Big Fight Postponed



The April 10th heavyweight championship boxing match between Champion Rocky Marciano and contender Jersey Joe Walcott has been postponed until sometime in May. Marciano (right), nose bleeding, is shown sparring with one of his training partners in Chicago. It was a nose injury during training that caused his request to have the bout postponed. (NEA Telephoto)

Unknowns Share Azalea Open Lead

Wilmington, N. C., April 3 (AP)—Tommy Bolt, the year's No. 3 money winner of professional golf, and three comparative strangers to the payoff window held the spotlight going into today's second round of the $10,000 Azalea Open tournament.

Bolt, the Oklahoma-Texas pro who now registers out of Maplewood, N. J., came through on schedule with a six under par 66 in yesterday's opening round.

But the big news was the way three unheralded performers came through. Mike Souchak, who was graduated from Duke University last spring after starring as a football end and a member of the Duke golf team, matched Bolt's 33-33 card.

He and Bolt were only one stroke ahead of two other surprise performers—Wally Ulrich of Austin, Minn., and Fred Wampler of Indianapolis, the 1950 National Intercollegiate Champion.

Locked at 68, two strokes off the top end, were Cary Middlecoff, Memphis, the No. 2 money winner of the year; Johnny Palmer, Charlotte, and John Ruebi, the Greenskeeper at the host Cape Fear Country Club.

Bucceroni 11-5 Over Dave Davey

New York, April 3 (AP)—Stringy Danny Bucceroni of Philadelphia is an 11 to 5 favorite to repeat his triumph over Husky Dave Davey of Seattle in the feature ten rounder at St. Nicholas Arena tonight. The 10 p. m. (EST) bout will be broadcast (ABC) and telecast (NBC).

Bucceroni has moved into the No. 8 ranking among the heavyweights. His record is 40-3 with 27 knockouts. He has been stopped only by Irish Bob Murphy, in 1951.

Davey, who had a 16-fight winning streak snapped by Bucceroni has thinned down to around 203 pounds.

Out of action for two years, Davey has had only 25 pro fights. He resumed boxing in 1951 and his record is 23-2 with seven kayos. He never has been stopped.

Transfer to Milwaukee Stops Brooklyn Jinx

Braves No Longer Doormats for Bums

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

Milwaukee's new major league fans can begin taking real hope that the Braves left their Brooklyn jinx in Boston.

The Braves of '52 didn't have a winning record against anybody except Pittsburgh and Cincinnati, but it was the Dodgers who really killed them. The Braves dropped their first 14 games against Brooklyn and finished the year losing 18 of 21. One game ended in a tie.

While the Braves still were in Boston early this spring the situation remained unchanged — two meetings with the Dodgers and two losses.

Then came the switch to Milwaukee. The immediate results were not sensational but there was some improvement. Brooklyn won its first game against Milwaukee, 1-0. Then Milwaukee won one, 3-2. Tuesday the Dodgers needed 10 innings to squeeze out a 3-2 decision.

Yesterday the Wisconsin Indians went on the warpath like the Massachusetts Indians never did, they battered the Bums, 11-3, at New Orleans in Brooklyn's worst defeat of the spring.

Rout Joe Black

Opening up on Joe Black and continuing their attack on Clem Labine and Ronnie Negray the Braves scored five runs in the first four innings. The Brooklyn hurlers walked eight and the infield continued a pair of costly errors.

The victory gave the Braves an overall spring record of 12 triumphs and 13 losses; 8 and 6 since changing homes.

The Braves were the only club to score in double figures yesterday. There were two shutouts. Vic Raschi and Johnny Schmitz combined to give the New York Yankees a 6-0 decision over the Philadelphia Athletics at St. Petersburg, Fla., and Bob Lemon and Lou Brissie of Cleveland blanked the New York Giants at Wichita, Kans, 3-0.

The Yankees had some anxious moments when Raschi was hit just below the right knee by a line drive off the bat of Dave Philley but X-rays showed no serious damage and club officials said last night the veteran righthander should be able to pitch in turn. Raschi's right knee bothered him through the 1951 season and he had a loose cartilage removed from it in the winter of 1951.

The Giants, who had lost eight straight mainly because of bad pitching, got some good pitching for a change with Larry Jansen striking out six and giving up six hits in six innings. But the Cleveland twirling was better and the Indians also came through with their daily quota of home runs. This time by Dale Mitchell and Bill Glynn. The Indians have hammered Giant pitching for 19 homers in their last six meetings.

Yost Homer Wins

A three-run home run by light hitting Eddie Yost gave Washington an 8-5 verdict over Cincinnati at Savannah, Ga.

Jack Mayo cleared the fences with two out in the ninth to tie the score and then Granny Hamner drove one over the centerfield wall in the 10th to give the Philadelphia Phils a 9-8 victory over the Boston Red Sox at Waycross, Ga.

The St. Louis Browns took a 5-4 edge in their spring series with the Chicago Cubs by whipping the National Leaguers, 9-4, at Alpine, Tex.

Detroit defeated the Cincinnati "B" team at Lakeland, Fla., 9-7, although the second string Reds hit four homers, two by Andy Seminick, and the St. Louis Cardinals won over Birmingham of the Southern Association, 6-3.

Fort Worth of the Texas League tripped th Chicago White Sox, 6-4, in a 10-inning night game. Jim Baxes, sent back to the minors after training with the Dodgers this spring, broke up the game with his second home run.

Yanks Carry 30

St. Petersburg, Fla., April 3 (AP) —The New York Yankees headed north from their St. Petersburg training base today with a squad of 30 Yanks. The Yankees drew 123,780 fans in 26 Florida games. A year ago they played before 103,744 in 23 games. The Yanks won 14 and lost 12.

The biggest gathering of racing fans in Florida for the 1953 winter season was 32,728 on Flamingo Day at Hialeah.

Training Camp News in Brief

Savannah, Ga., April 3 (AP) — Frank Shea, one of Washington's top ranking pitchers, is positive he will be ready in a week or so. He warmed up for 15 minutes yesterday and declared his sore arm "feels better than it ever has this spring."

Tigers Tougher

Lakeland, Fla., April 3 (AP) — Casey Stengel, manager of the world champion New York Yankees has confirmed what the Detroit Tigers have been telling themselves all during spring training.

Casey opined that "Detroit will be more dangerous than some folks believe." Then he threw in: "Besides that, they've got hustle. This is a better team than a year ago."

Detroit fans hoped he was right. Their Tigers finished in the cellar last year, ruining Detroit's boast of being the only team in either league never to have finished there.

San Antonio, Tex., April 3 (AP)— Manager Phil Cavarretta has received word that Hank Sauer, his slugging outfielder, will probably miss only the first week of the campaign instead of nearly one month. Examination in Chicago of Sauer's injured finger showed that it was fractured but not crushed.

Fain Confident

Fort Worth, Tex., April 3 (AP)— Ferris Fain, the Chicago White Sox acquisition from the Philadelphia Athletics, is batting well over .400 in his best spring hitting spree in 12 years.

"I'm hitting to help the team—but as long as I've got a bat in my hand I've got a chance to win the batting title," Fain concedes.

He won the American League batting crown the last two years.

"Maybe 40 per cent of my hits are sliced into the opposite (left) field," he added. "I haven't enough power to bring many runs in from first base. But I can bring 'em in from second and third. I'll drive the runs in this season, I'll guarantee that."

Havana, April 3 (AP) — As the Pittsburgh Pirates prepared to break camp today, officials indicated they will not return to Cuba next spring for training although they still have two years to go on a three-year contract.

The Cuban Sports Commission underwrote training camp expenses to the extent of about $50,000. Attendance at exhibition games between the Pirates and Cuban All Stars was so poor the last half of the schedule was cancelled.

Raschi Jinx

St. Petersburg, Fla., April 3 (AP) —The old Vic Raschi-New York Yankees jinx popped up again for the Philadelphia Athletics yesterday.

The A's acted like men with holes in their bats as they went down to a 6-0 defeat at the hands of Raschi and the Yanks in an exhibition.

Raschi has a lifetime record of 24 wins, four losses against the Athletics.

Joe Ruzzo Blasts 665; Bob Tierney Cracks 266

Jumpin' Joe Ruzzo and Robust Robert Tierney shared the bowling headlines last night.

Tierney, undisturbed by the sad plight of his favorite New York Giants in their spring travails with the Cleveland Indians, hammered out a new high single record of 266 in the Booster League.

Ruzzo appeared on his way to a "700" set in the Ferraro Major, with opening counts of 228 and 266. But he slumped to 171 in the stretch and settled for 665. It was the highest series of the night.

Tierney's 266 came in the third game, after 151 and 159, and featured nine strikes in a row and one open frame. His 576 blast led the Booster League.

Weishaupt Hits 660

Larry Weishaupt's 660 (201-259-200) was runnerup in a night of brisk firing in the Major. Len Freer pounded 234-220-644; Frank "Tarzan" Spada shot 215-235-643; Randy Kelder had a hat trick of 201-203-214-618; George Flemings 200-231-611; Ken Joseph 209-215-605; Bobby Jones 202-213-604 and Angie Ferraro 231-603.

New Indian Spirit Pleases Al Lopez

Lubbock, Tex., April 3 (AP)—You don't find Manager Al Lopez whooping and clicking his heels about this amazing hot streak of his Cleveland Indians.

Instead, he says, "I really don't think we're ready yet. We're getting there, though."

Al concedes it's a lot more fun to win than lose—the Indians now have won eight straight—but he adds:

"What really does please me is the confidence our club has developed. The winning and the hitting does that. Now the boys really believe in themselves."

Strange Silence Settles

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, April 3 (AP)—A strange silence is settling over Belgrade and other Yugoslav cities. An old traffic law, enforced by on-the-spot police fines, required sound signals at all intersections. Drivers honked once to go ahead, twice for a right turn and three times for a left turn. For a U-turn it was honk-honk-honk and again honk-honk-honk. A government decree now proclaims that hand signals only are required.

Transfer to Milwaukee Stops Brooklyn Jinx

Braves No Longer Doormats for Bums

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

Milwaukee's new major league fans can begin taking real hope that the Braves left their Brooklyn jinx in Boston.

The Braves of '52 didn't have a winning record against anybody except Pittsburgh and Cincinnati, but it was the Dodgers who really killed them. The Braves dropped their first 14 games against Brooklyn and finished the year losing 18 of 21. One game ended in a tie.

While the Braves still were in Boston early this spring the situation remained unchanged — two meetings with the Dodgers and two losses.

Then came the switch to Milwaukee. The immediate results were not sensational but there was some improvement. Brooklyn won its first game against Milwaukee, 1-0. Then Milwaukee won one, 3-2. Tuesday the Dodgers needed 10 innings to squeeze out a 3-2 decision.

Yesterday the Wisconsin Indians went on the warpath like the Massachusetts Indians never did, they battered the Bums, 11-3, at New Orleans in Brooklyn's worst defeat of the spring.

Rout Joe Black

Opening up on Joe Black and continuing their attack on Clem Labine and Ronnie Negray the Braves scored five runs in the first four innings. The Brooklyn hurlers walked eight and the infield continued a pair of costly errors.

The victory gave the Braves an overall spring record of 12 triumphs and 13 losses; 8 and 6 since changing homes.

The Braves were the only club to score in double figures yesterday. There were two shutouts. Vic Raschi and Johnny Schmitz combined to give the New York Yankees a 6-0 decision over the Philadelphia Athletics at St. Petersburg, Fla., and Bob Lemon and Lou Brissie of Cleveland blanked the New York Giants at Wichita, Kans., 3-0.

The Yankees had some anxious moments when Raschi was hit just below the right knee by a line drive off the bat of Dave Philley but X-rays showed no serious damage and club officials said last night the veteran righthander should be able to pitch in turn. Raschi's right knee bothered him through the 1951 season and he had a loose cartilage removed from it in the winter of 1951.

The Giants, who had lost eight straight mainly because of bad pitching, got some good pitching for a change with Larry Jansen striking out six and giving up six hits in six innings. But the Cleveland twirling was better and the Indians also came through with their daily quota of home runs. This time by Dale Mitchell and Bill Glynn. The Indians have hammered Giant pitching for 19 homers in their last six meetings.

Yost Homer Wins

A three-run home run by light hitting Eddie Yost gave Washington an 8-5 verdict over Cincinnati at Savannah, Ga.

Jack Mayo cleared the fences with two out in the ninth to tie the score and then Granny Hamner drove one over the centerfield wall in the 10th to give the Philadelphia Phils a 9-8 victory over the Boston Red Sox at Waycross, Ga.

The St. Louis Browns took a 5-4 edge in their spring series with the Chicago Cubs by whipping the National Leaguers, 9-4, at Alpine, Tex.

Detroit defeated the Cincinnati "B" team at Lakeland, Fla., 9-7, although the second string Reds hit four homers, two by Andy Seminick, and the St. Louis Cardinals won over Birmingham of the Southern Association, 6-3.

Fort Worth of the Texas League tripped th Chicago White Sox, 6-4, in a 10-inning night game. Jim Baxes, sent back to the minors after training with the Dodgers this spring, broke up the game with his second home run.

Yanks Carry 30

St. Petersburg, Fla., April 3 (AP) —The New York Yankees headed north from their St. Petersburg training base today with a squad of 30 Yanks. The Yankees drew 123,780 fans in 26 Florida games. A year ago they played before 103,744 in 23 games. The Yanks won 14 and lost 12.

The biggest gathering of racing fans in Florida for the 1953 winter season was 32,728 on Flamingo Day at Hialeah.

Training Camp News in Brief

Savannah, Ga., April 3 (AP) — Frank Shea, one of Washington's top ranking pitchers, is positive he will be ready in a week or so. He warmed up for 15 minutes yesterday and declared his sore arm "feels better than it ever has this spring."

Tigers Tougher

Lakeland, Fla., April 3 (AP) — Casey Stengel, manager of the world champion New York Yankees has confirmed what the Detroit Tigers have been telling themselves all during spring training.

Casey opined that "Detroit will be more dangerous than some folks believe." Then he threw in: "Besides that, they've got hustle. This is a better team than a year ago."

Detroit fans hoped he was right. Their Tigers finished in the cellar last year, ruining Detroit's boast of being the only team in either league never to have finished there.

San Antonio, Tex., April 3 (AP)—Manager Phil Cavarretta has received word that Hank Sauer, his slugging outfielder, will probably miss only the first week of the campaign instead of nearly one month. Examination in Chicago of Sauer's injured finger showed that it was fractured but not crushed.

Fain Confident

Fort Worth, Tex., April 3 (AP)—Ferris Fain, the Chicago White Sox acquisition from the Philadelphia Athletics, is batting well over .400 in his best spring hitting spree in 12 years.

"I'm hitting to help the team—but as long as I've got a bat in my hand I've got a chance to win the batting title," Fain concedes.

He won the American League batting crown the last two years.

"Maybe 40 per cent of my hits are sliced into the opposite (left) field," he added. "I haven't enough power to bring many runs in from first base. But I can bring 'em in from second and third. I'll drive the runs in this season, I'll guarantee that."

Havana, April 3 (AP) — As the Pittsburgh Pirates prepared to break camp today, officials indicated they will not return to Cuba next spring for training although they still have two years to go on a three-year contract.

The Cuban Sports Commission underwrote training camp expenses to the extent of about $50,000. Attendance at exhibition games between the Pirates and Cuban All Stars was so poor the last half of the schedule was cancelled.

Raschi Jinx

St. Petersburg, Fla., April 3 (AP) —The old Vic Raschi-New York Yankees jinx popped up again for the Philadelphia Athletics yesterday.

The A's acted like men with holes in their bats as they went down to a 6-0 defeat at the hands of Raschi and the Yanks in an exhibition.

Raschi has a lifetime record of 24 wins, four losses against the Athletics.

Joe Ruzzo Blasts 665; Bob Tierney Cracks 266

Jumpin' Joe Ruzzo and Robust Robert Tierney shared the bowling headlines last night.

Tierney, undisturbed by the sad plight of his favorite New York Giants in their spring travails with the Cleveland Indians, hammered out a new high single record of 266 in the Booster League.

Ruzzo appeared on his way to a "700" set in the Ferraro Major, with opening counts of 228 and 266. But he slumped to 171 in the stretch and settled for 665. It was the highest series of the night.

Tierney's 266 came in the third game, after 151 and 159, and featured nine strikes in a row and one open frame. His 576 blast led the Booster League.

New Indian Spirit Pleases Al Lopez

Lubbock, Tex., April 3 (AP)—You don't find Manager Al Lopez whooping and clicking his heels about this amazing hot streak of his Cleveland Indians.

Instead, he says, "I really don't think we're ready yet. We're getting there, though."

Al concedes it's a lot more fun to win than lose—the Indians now have won eight straight—but he adds:

"What really does please me is the confidence our club has developed. The winning and the hitting does that. Now the boys really believe in themselves."

Strange Silence Settles

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, April 3 (AP)—A strange silence is settling over Belgrade and other Yugoslav cities. An old traffic law, enforced by on-the-spot police fines, required sound signals at all intersections. Drivers honked once to go ahead, twice for a right turn and three times for a left turn. For a U-turn it was honk-honk-honk and again honk-honk-honk. A government decree now proclaims that hand signals only are required.

Would Trust Russia

Bonn, Germany, April 3 (AP)—Foes of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer seized on Moscow's new "peace offensive" today to step up their fight against his plan to rearm West Germany as part of the western defense front. West Germany's neutralist "All-German People's Party" demanded that the West accept Russia's gestures "as a last chance for peaceful agreement." The neutralists also accused Adenauer and the western allies of having spoiled some previous Russian overtures by setting too high a price for negotiations.

Won't Break Faith

Taipeh, Formosa, April 3 (AP)—U. S. Ambassador Karl L. Rankin today declared an armistice in Korea will not "be followed by a sell-out of free China." Rankin told a news conference President Eisenhower already has made clear that there will be "no breaking of faith with our friends." His statement tended to allay fears that Washington policy toward Formosa might change in the event of a Korean truce.

Paper Boosts Price

Bridgeport, Conn., April 3 (AP)—The Bridgeport Sunday Post announced today a five-cent increase in its price. Effective, April 5, the new price will be 15 cents a copy. "The constantly rising cost of operation makes this increase necessary," the paper said.

Would Trust Russia

Bonn, Germany, April 3 (AP)—Foes of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer seized on Moscow's new "peace offensive" today to step up their fight against his plan to rearm West Germany as part of the western defense front. West German's neutralist "All-German People's Party" demanded that the West accept Russia's gestures "as a last chance for peaceful agreement." The neutralists also accused Adenauer and the western allies of having spoiled some previous Russian overtures by setting too high a price for negotiations.

Clear Easter Weather Is Seen for New York

New York, April 3 (AP) — Clear weather for Easter in New York city was predicted today by the Weather Bureau.

Temperatures should be "seasonable—not too cold," the forecast said.

A Weather Bureau spokesman said there should be clearing weather for Easter, after some light rain late Saturday afternoon and night.

Russians' Peace

Shortly before he went into the news conference, the President had conferred with Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen, who is leaving from New York today to take up his duties as U. S. envoy to Moscow. In response to a question about whether he discussed with Bohlen a Malenkov meeting, Eisenhower said that subject was not discussed because so far as he could see there was no basis for discussing it—at the moment.

Talks With Bohlen

He said that in conformity with regular practice, Bohlen came to call on him just before leaving for Europe and they discussed the situation in Moscow of the American ambassador, the hope that Bohlen could be helpful, and the general nature of problems that might come up.

With obvious reference to a question about whether he had given a personal message for Malenkov, Eisenhower said that as far as anything further in their discussion was concerned, he would have nothing to say. This left open the possibility that he had told Bohlen to give his greetings to the new head of the Russian government.

UN Rushes Plans

which were suspended last Oct. 8. Gen. Clark has made it clear the armistice talks cannot resume until agreement is reached on exchanging disabled prisoners.

The problem of prisoner exchange was the only major issue unsettled when the talks were broken off last fall.

The Communists have insisted that all prisoners of war be returned home while the UN command has flatly refused to repatriate anyone against his will.

Monday Red China's premier Chou En-lai proposed that prisoners who want to return be repatriated immediately after an armistice is signed. The others be handed over to a neutral nation pending a decision on their future.

The proposal was cabled to UN headquarters and turned over to the UN command Thursday at Panmunjom. It has been strongly endorsed by the Communist bloc, including Soviet Russia.

A shell from a Communist shore battery injured 13 men aboard the cruiser Los Angeles as it bombarded Wonsan Harbor on Korea's east coast Thursday. None of the victims was seriously hurt, the navy said.

It was the second time in seven days the Los Angeles was hit by Communist fire. The first time, on March 27, no one was injured.

Would Protect Clients

Hollywood, Fla., April 3 (AP)—One of the nation's top lawyer's proposed today that the legal profession indemnify clients who lose money to embezzling attorneys. Robert G. Storey of Dallas, Tex., president of the American Bar association, made the proposal at the convention of the Florida Bar Association. "Banks have a system of insuring deposits," said Storey. "Practically all business organizations require fidelity for officials and employes handling money. "Now and then a lawyer embezzles his client's funds. Why shouldn't each of us pay a small sum annually to provide indemnity for losses of clients' money entrusted to members of our professional organizations?"

Would Start Next Week

United Nations, April 3 (AP)—Dag Hammerskjold of Sweden, nominated to succeed Trygve Lie as UN secrefary-general, is expected to take over the job next week. He still must be approved by the 60-nation General Assembly but delegates see no bar to his final election.

Deficit Report

Washington, April 3 (AP)—Government finance specialists said today the country appears headed for a deficit of nearly 6½ billion dollars—about a half-billion more than predicted—by the end of the fiscal year on June 30.

turning from Leeds, near Catskill, when a patrol began tailing them. Picking up speed, Decker's automobile, a 1939 Mercury sped down Route 32 and turned into Devil's Lake road, where it bogged down in high water over the road, troopers said. The first trooper having radioed for assistance, Troopers R. H. Kowalski, R. I. Ryan, H. S. Rhodes and R. F. Dauch all converged on the car at the time, about 4 p. m.

Troopers alleged that Decker purchased the automobile and, wanting to go to Leeds to visit a girl friend, enlisted Miller's aid in obtaining a plate. Miller, the troopers charged, "borrowed" his mother's license plate and the two youths proceeded to Leeds. On their return trip, the state police allegation continued, the boys switched plates, putting on one that had previously been reported stolen from Harold Keator of Lake Katrine. The boys claimed they had found the plate along the highway, troopers said.

New York Greets

Base waved wildly, shouted, whistled and sang.

A 35-piece band, blowing of the ship's whistle and the drone of airplanes and helicopters added to the uproar.

Army regulations dictated that the ship dock this morning although she reached New York harbor late yesterday. A host of Broadway entertainers gave a show aboard ship until the early morning hours, but some troops were disgruntled that the ship did not dock immediately.

Didn't Like Delay

While they enjoyed the show, they felt the delay in disembarking might prevent them from reaching home in time for Easter.

The Military Sea Transport Service gave two versions of the reason for keeping the troops aboard ship overnight.

First, it reported that the ship was arriving ahead of schedule and that berthing arrangements could not be changed. But another MSTS spokesman said last night the party had been planned long ahead as a welcome home gesture to the soldiers.

"It was planned for their convenience and goodwill, and to throw the party they quite naturally had to have them aboard the ship," he said.

The ship came here, instead of to a west coast port, because she is going to be overhauled on the east coast.

As the ship pulled into her berth, the noise was pierced frequently by cries of: "He sees me, he sees me."

The ship carried 1,923 Korea veterans and 315 from other Far East stations.

Tells Dad He'll Die

Dubuque, Ia., April 3 (AP)—Another warmer meeting between father and adamant son today left unchanged the teen-aged self-admitted slayer's determination to go it alone to the last. "I want to die," Fred Eugene McManus, 18, told his father, Mose McManus, Valley Stream, N. Y., brewery executive, in their brief reunion at the county jail. Fred is held for the slaying of five persons in New York, Illinois and Minnesota in a four-day trail of crime. His father left shortly after for his local lawyer's office. There it was announced, that Herbert Hoffmann, the Dubuque lawyer retained by the senior McManus, had bowed out of the case. At the Hoffmann office, Mose McManus broke down completely as he apparently finally agreed to drop efforts to aid Fred.

Survey Committee Favor 15-cent Fare

New York, April 3 (AP)—A 15 cent fare on New York city's subways and buses that now charge 10 cents would help the city break even on their operation in the opinion of the Mayor's Committee on Management Survey.

"A more drastic increase in fare would probably result in such reduction in the use of transit facilities as to constitute a serious economic loss to the community," the committee said in a report last night.

It declared, however, that the actual cost to the city in running its transit system, including depreciation and interest on the 1952-53 debt, is 16 cents a ride.

But an 18 cent fare would be required to meet this cost because the number of riders normally declines when fares increase.

A 15 cent fare would just about cover costs of operations alone, excluding any allowance for depreciation or interest on the current debt, the report said.

Would Make Trial

While predicting that more would be lost than gained from any higher charge than this, the committee said:

"The only way to determine the best point at which to set the fare . . . is to try it out."

The committee reported that it favored cut rate fares during non-rush hours and on weekends to retain some of the passenger travel that would be lost through a fare increase.

This would be similar to the practice of power and telephone companies granting special off peak rates.

The report called for creation of a three man, non-salaried transit authority, but this was regarded as academic in transit circles because the city recently accepted Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's proposal for a five-man authority with fare setting powers.

Three in Crew Saved

New York, April 3 (AP) — The coast guard reported today that the Eric J., a 55-foot fishing boat, sank last night in the Atlantic Ocean 90 miles east of Atlantic City, N. J. Three men aboard the craft were rescued by the fishing boat Malvina B., which later transferred them to the coast guard cutter Gentian.

While predicting that more would be lost than gained from any higher charge than this, the committee said:

"The only way to determine the best point at which to set the fare . . . is to try it out."

The committee reported that it favored cut rate fares during non-rush hours and on weekends to retain some of the passenger travel that would be lost through a fare increase.

This would be similar to the practice of power and telephone companies granting special off peak rates.

The report called for creation of a three man, non-salaried transit authority, but this was regarded as academic in transit circles because the city recently accepted Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's proposal for a five-man authority with fare setting powers.

Three in Crew Saved

New York, April 3 (AP) — The coast guard reported today that the Eric J., a 55-foot fishing boat, sank last night in the Atlantic Ocean 90 miles east of Atlantic City, N. J. Three men aboard the craft were rescued by the fishing boat Malvina B., which later transferred them to the coast guard cutter Gentian.
